DANIELS' FIVE-YEAR PROGRAMME IS LAID ASIDE IN THE HOUSE

Naval Bill as Completed Provides for Battle Cruisers Instead of Dreadnaughts.

$240,000,000 APPROPRIATION

All the War Craft to be Constructed in 1917—Administration is Dissatisfied.

KITCHIN IS WELL PLEASED

Measure Carries Resolution Looking to Permanent Peace.

Washington, May 18.—Administration forces in Congress lost the first skirmish in the naval preparedness campaign today, when the House committee broke a five-day deadlock and completed the Naval Appropriation bill without approving the five-year building programme advocated by President Wilson and Secretary Daniels.

What the Bill Authorizes.

As finally agreed to, the bill authorizes the construction in 1917 of five battle cruisers, as against two dreadnaughts and two battle cruisers recommended by Secretary Daniels; four scout cruisers, an increase of one over the department's programme; ten destroyers, as against 15 recommended; 20 submarines, three to be 800-ton boats, compared with five fleet and 25 coast defense submersibles recommended; one hospital, one oil fuel ship and one ammunition ship. The gunboat recommended was stricken out and the fuel and ammunition ships were added from Secretary Daniels' programme for the second year.

The total amount carried by the bill to $240,000,000, the largest naval appropriation ever presented to Congress.

While the appropriation proposed is, if anything, an increase over the department's plans, failure of the five-year programme and the fact that no dreadnaughts were provided for, make the bill unsatisfactory to administration officials.

Secretary Daniels said tonight he never lost hope of getting what he asked for until Congress adjourned. It was clearly indicated that the Senate, even in committee, was relied upon to restore the battleships. The Senate has never failed to increase the programme for the navy mapped out by the House, and Navy officials are confident that the final bill will provide for at least two battleships and four battle cruisers.

The deadlock in the House followed a caucus of the eight Republican members of the committee who decided to oppose the five-year programme suggested by the department. Five of the 13 Democrats not only opposed the continuing programme, but also were determined to cut down the 1917 estimates and not to vote for any battleship appropriation. The final compromise was effected by Chairman Padgett with Representative Hensley, of Missouri, a leader of the so-called "little navy" Democrats, who induced the other four to join him in agreeing to the five battlecruisers plan.

Peace Provision Accepted.

Chairman Padgett was compelled to abandon the five-year project and forced to accept a provision proposed by Representative Hensley authorizing the President to call a conference of world powers at the conclusion of the European war to draw plans for an international peace tribunal. An appropriation of $200,000 for this purpose is carried in the section, which was adopted unanimously, and it would authorize the President to appoint nine citizens distinguished as lawyers and peace advocates to represent the United States.

The compromise building programme was carried by the solid Democratic vote of the committee against the solid Republican membership. The Republican programme agreed to by the minority when the Democratic plan was learned, was two battleships, six battle cruisers, six scout cruisers, 50 submarines, 28 destroyers, two gunboats, one destroyer tender two fuel oil ships, a supply ship, a naval transport, a hospital ship, an ammunition ship and a repair ship.

Representative Stephens, of California, Republican, offered a series of proposals, all of which were defeated by both Republican and Democratic votes. They ranged from ten battleships to eight destroyers and represented, roughly figuring, a total cost of $599,000,000.

Eight of the new submarines and four destroyers are to be built on the Pacific coast if the cost of construction does not exceed Atlantic coast prices by more than the additional freight charges on material.

Kitchin Greatly Pleased.

Majority Leader Kitchin, of the House, expressed great satisfaction with bill and said it might be brought up in the House next week, although other Democratic leaders were not hopeful that it could be voted on before the national conventions. Mr. Kitchin's statement, however, is viewed as significant, as he has been opposed to the administration's preparedness measures:

"I am so well pleased over the programme as reported that I certainly cannot object to it," said Mr. Kitchin "and I may see my way clear to make a speech in behalf of it. It is a good thing not to appropriate for dreadnaughts. They are of no use, as the present war is showing. One of

AMERICANS TO BE GIVEN PROTECTION

Administration Considering Further Steps to Protect Their Interests in Mexico.

CONFERENCE OF CONSULS

Several Ordered to Border by State Department Have Reached El Paso. May be Less Than 3,000 Americans in Mexico.

Washington, May 18.—While waiting re-opening of diplomatic discussions with Carranza and results of the military campaign against outlaw bands, the United States government is considering further measures for protection of American interests in Mexico.

Several consuls from the interior of Mexico, ordered to the border by the State Department, have arrived at El Paso for conference, which are expected to result in recommendations to the department in the interest of American lives and property across the southern boundary. Coincident with the gathering of the consuls, the State Department today announced partial returns of the census of Americans in Mexico recently ordered. It was stated officially that the American colony at Mexico City now numbers about 1,200 and that there may be less than 3,000 citizens of the United States in all Mexico.

When the question of effective removal of Americans still remaining in the bandit infested regions will be considered by the consuls and American military officers was not disclosed here officially.

Consul Letcher to Washington.

Consul Letcher, of Chihuahua City, will come to Washington after the border conference to make a detailed report to the State Department.

No important military developments in Mexico or along the border were reported to Washington today. Officials here are closely observing the Mexican campaign in southern and western Chihuahua and against the outlaws who raided the Big Bend district. Official dispatches today stated that Colonel Sibley in charge of the pursuit of the outlaws who raided Glenn Springs and Boquillas, had a temporary base about 40 miles south of the boundary.

With Carranza troops reported moving toward the Coahuila-Chihuahua border, army officers believed it possible that the bandits might be caught between the Carranza and American forces.

The rescue of Jesse Deemer and his negro cook, Monroe Payne, captured in the Glenn Springs raid, was officially confirmed during the day.

State Department dispatches indicated the strike of Mexican railway employes was spreading. Shop employes at Padras Negras were reported to have gone on a strike preventing movement of trains from the south since May 14. It also was officially reported that railroad employes in Guadalajara struck May 16, and that Aguas Calientes was cut off from railroad communication because of the strike.

Dispatches from Mexico City to the embassy here tonight said work had

CARROL COUNTY JURY ACQUITS WILL M'CRAW

He is Hurried Away From Hillsville in an Automobile.

Told His Own Story in Court Yesterday of the Fight With Jasper Allen and the Shooting in Mrs. Brodie Martin's Home.

Hillsville, Va., May 18.—Will McCraw, Carroll county farmer on trial in the circuit court here for the murder of Jasper Allen, last of the noted Carroll county clan, early tonight was acquitted by a jury following a deliberation of two hours. The verdict was received at 8:40 o'clock by Clerk Dexter Goad, who figured in the Hillsville tragedy of April, 1912, when a judge and several court officers were killed. The acquittal was accepted with calm by the spectators.

McCraw, after embracing his mother, who has been with him throughout the trial, and receiving congratulations from friends, was hurried away from Hillsville in an automobile. His destination is not known.

Jasper Allen was shot and killed by McCraw between 12 and 1 o'clock the morning of March 18, at the home of Mrs. Brodie Martin, five miles from Mount Airy, N. C., on the Virginia-North Carolina line. Witnesses have testified at the three days' trial here that the shooting was the result of a quarrel incited by a statement from McCraw that Wesley Edwards, Allen's nephew, "hasn't got the nerve people claim he has." The tragedy was a climax to a family history of the Allan clan which has been punctuated with violent deaths of the clansmen.

AUSTRIANS UNABLE TO GAIN FUTHE[illegible]

Italians Put a Check to the Advance of the Enemy in Region of Southern Tyrol.

VICIOUS ATTACKS ALL FAIL

Germans Make Another Fruitless Attack on the French in Avocourt and on Hill 304—British Put Turks to Flight.

The Italians in southern Tyrol now are tenaciously holding back the Austrians from further inroads into their positions. In the Ledro Valley, southwest of Trent, and in the Lagarina valley, to the south of the city, the Austrians, after heavy artillery preparation, threw vicious attacks against the Italians but all of them were repulsed with heavy casualties, according to Rome.

Five attacks were made on Zegnatorta, the same number as were on Wednesday, and again all of them were stopped with sanguinary losses.

Italians Make Gains.

In the Adamello zone to the west of Trent, where previous gains have been made by the Italians, King Victor Emmanuel's men have occupied additional territory in the Sarca river region and in the Monfalcone region, near the head of the Gulf of Triest, have recaptured trenches taken from them by the Austrians last Monday.

Another ineffectual attempt has been made by the Germans against the French positions in the Avocourt wood and on Hill 304 to the northwest of Verdun.

Paris reports that a strong attack here w asput down by the French guns and that the Germans appear to have suffered serious losses.

On the remainder of the front in France and Belgium, aside from an unsuccessful German infantry attack against the Belgians on North Steenstrate, there have been only bombardments.

British Put Turks to Flight.

The British in Egypt have carried out a successful maneuvre against the Turks and tribesmen at Bayoud and Mageibra, putting them to flight from the camp at Bayoud.

Austrian aeroplanes have dropped bombs on Avlona, Albania, the only seaport on the eastern Aeriatic remaining in the hands of the Entente Allies. That Aviona probably is well fortified against an infantry attack is indicated by the statement of the Austro-Hungraian admiralty that the raiding aircraft were heavily shelled.

Three German steamers have been sunk in the Baltic Sea by Entente Allies marines—two by the Russians and one by the British.

A British fishing smack, arriving at Lowestoft, reports having been shelled by a German submarine, one member of the crew being killed and two injured.

Birmingham, Ala., May 18. — The opening sessions of the Cumberland Presbyterian Assembly which were held here today, were devoted chiefly to opening addresses and responses, and the priliminary work of organization. It is expected that the attendance will be between 800 and 1,000.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT NAVY YARD AT NORFOLK

Ship-Fitters' Shop Destroyed, with Loss Over $100,000.

Boiler Makers' Shop and Plumbers' Shop Damaged—Naval Constructor Watt Asks for New and Modern Fireproof Buildings.

Norfolk, Va., May 18.—The shipfitters shop, known as building No. 24, and all of the equipment, consisting of valuable woodworking machinery, at the Norfolk yard, were destroyed early tonight by fire. The boiler makers' shop and the plumbers shop, adjoining building in the group were slightly damaged.

The fire originated in the shipfitters shop from some unknown cause shortly after 6 o'clock. The flames spread rapidly and were quickly beyond the control of the navy yard fire fighting force. The entire Portsmouth fire department was immediately called to the scene. A stubborn two hours' fight confined the fire to the buildings mentioned and at 9 o'clock all danger of a general conflagration had passed.

For some time it looked like there would be a general conflagration involving the many other shops, all closely bunched, and all of the efforts of the firemen were directed to prevent the spreading of the fire. In this they were successful. Although the water front and docks are filled with navy craft of various kind, none were endangered. The fire was fully 200 feet from the nearest vessel. At 10 o'clock the fire was pronounced "out." A naval guard has been placed over the smoking ruins for tonight.

Naval Constructor Watt, in charge of the yard construction work, estimates the damage at from $100,000 to $150,000 depending upon the amount of machinery that can be salvaged.

PLEASING REPORT ON THE TREASURY MADE BY M'ADOO

Shows That Far Less Additional Revenue Than Supposed Will Have to be Raised.

TO MEET EXTRA EXPENSES

All New Revenue to Come From Taxes on Incomes, Inheritances and Munitions.

Washington, May 18.—Secretary McAdoo today submitted to Chairman Kitchin of the House Ways and Means committee and Chairman Simmons of the Senate Finance committee revised estimates of the government receipts and expenditures for the remainder of the current fiscal year and the fiscal year ending June 30, 1917, tending to show that much less new revenue will have to be raised to meet the bill for preparedness and other large contemplated expenditures than had been supposed.

Only about $150,000,000 in additional revenue will have to be provided during the coming year, Mr. McAdoo said. This is less by $75,000,000 than the most conservative members of Congress calculated at the outset of the session would be needed. All of the additional revenue will come from taxes on incomes, inheritances and munitions in accordance with a plan approved last week by President Wilson.

Comes as Pleasant Surprise.

News of the condition of the Treasury came as a pleasant surprise to members of the Ways and Means committee, who have been pondering for weeks on the framing of revenue measures. A meeting of the Democratic members of the committee quickly followed the return of Mr. Kitchin to the capitol and later he announced that the revenue raising plan will be whipped into shape within two weeks and that the House would begin to consider it immediately after the national conventions.

It is probable that all of the revenue measures, including provision for preparedness revenues, a tariff commission and the encouragement of the dyestuffs industry, will be included in an omnibus bill. The President is understood to favor that plan.

Solution of the revenue problem, Mr Kitchin believes, would go far toward making an early adjournment of Congress possible. He told the Ways and Means conferees that nothing would prevent him putting the legislative programme through the House so as to be ready to adjourn on August 1.

The Senate, however, may delay adjournment by prolonged debate on some of the big measures.

Secretary McAdoo's Estimates.

Secretary McAdoo's figures showed that the balance in the general fund, exclusive of disbursing officer's credits, probably would be $150,000,000 at the end of the present fiscal year and $13,500,000 at the end of the fiscal year of 1917. This estimate included expenditures likely to be made for the proposed increase in the standing army and for next year's naval programme, now before Congress. In addition liberal publications for good roads, rural credits and flood prevention are included. In making up the estimates, the additional cost to the country of preparedness during the year 1917 was placed at from $90,000,000 to $100,000,000, a figure probably considerably less than appropriations to be authorized by Congress, but approximating the sum which actually would be spent during the year under the authorization.

An estimate compiled by Mr. McAdoo last December showed a deficit of $62,000,000 in the geenral fund June 30, 1917, instead of the $13,500,000 balance in the present estimate. The previous estimate contemplated the extension of the emrgency revenue tax to the end of the fiscal year of 1917. The emergency measure expires by limitation December 31 next and in compiling the revised estimate Mr. McAdoo figured on eliminating the stamp tax features of the measure from July 1 next.

The $62,000,000 deficit which seemed likely when Congress convened was estimated on a basis that did not include provisions for good roads, rural credits or flood expenditures, all of which are included in the revised estimate. It was then figured that Congress would have to raise $112,000,000 by additional legislation to bring the general fund balance up to the necessary $50,000,000 at the end of the next fiscal year. At today's conference, Mr. McAdoo told Messrs. Simmons and Kitchin and Representatives Hull and Rainey, who accompanied them, that should Congress provide $150,000,000 additional, revenue during 1917, the general fund balance at the end of the fiscal year of 1917 would be approximately $163,500,000.

Increases in treasury receipts have been most marked in the internal reve-

REV. C. W. GRAFTON NAMED MODERATOR

Succeeds Dr. W. McF. Alexander at Head of the Southern Presbyterian Assembly.

HE IS A COUNTRY PASTOR

Record Registration of Commissioners at Opening Session—Reports of Various Departments Show Prosperous Year.

Orlando, Fla., May 18.—Personal evidence of the intention of the Southern Presbyterian church in the United States to pay greater attention to the country churches was given at the first business session of the 56th general assembly of the church by the election of Rev. C. W. Grafton, pastor of Union and Bensalem churches in the Presbytery of Mississippi, to the office of Moderator. Dr. J. L. Mauze, pastor of Central church, of St. Louis, was nominated in opposition to Dr. Grafton, but with his own request the nomination was withdrawn.

Other officers elected today were two temporary secretaries, Rev. G. A. Penich, Austin, Texas, and Rev. J. G. Herndon, LaGrange, Ga.

Pastor for 43 Years.

Dr. Grafton succeeds Dr. William McF. Alexander, of New Orleans, as moderator. He is the oldest country pastor of the Southern church in point of service in a single church, having held only one pastorate during his 43 years as a minister.

Dr. Grafton graduated from Columbia, S. C., Theological Seminary in 1873. In July of that year he became pastor of Union church, which in later years was combined with Bensalem church, ten miles distant, in a circuit.

Union church will celebrate its 100th anniversary next year, in 1917. Dr. Grafton's only son, a missionary to China, was ordained in Union church in 1904.

Outside the election of moderator this afternoon and the sermon of the retiring moderator at the morning session, little business was transacted by the assembly. More commissioners had registered prior to the opening session than ever before. The attendance is expected to be the largest of any general assembly.

Representatives of Oglethorpe University, at Atlanta, will appear before the assembly tomorrow to present the claims of the university for recognition.

Reports Show Prosperity.

Reports of the home and foreign mission committees, Sunday school extension league, department of Christian education and ministerial relief committee, made public today, show a prosperous year for all branches of work. More men are candidates for the ministry in the South than ever before and greater amounts were received for carrying on their work. The home mission committee requested more men and funds to aid in work among the "flood of immigrants" expected at the end of the European war.

CONFEDERATE REUNION PASSES INTO HISTORY

Grand Parade of the "Boys in Gray" Marks Final Scene.

Tens of Thousands of People at Birmingham Witness March of the Veterans—Gathering a Most Successful One.

Birmingham, Ala., May 18.—The 26th annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans became history when the gray uniformed survivors of the armies of the South passed in review in their grand parade this afternoon. It was the closing scene of one of the most successful gatherings held by the organization and was witnessed by tens of thousands of citizens and visitors.

Washington will entertain the Southerners next year, but there will be fewer veterans there. According to Adjutant General Mickle, death is reducing the ranks at the rate of 14 per cent a year. Those who can do so, however, anticipate "marching down Pennsylvania avenue, and being reviewed by a Democratic President."

Following the parade in the afternoon a brigade of Texas veterans commanded by Colonel Vik Reinhardt and several companies of the Alabama National Guard commanded by Major Seals, fought a sham battle at the fair grounds.

Tonight numerous special trains are scattering the veterans and visitors to their homes in all sections of the South.

The streets were a riot of color during the parade today and the marching veterans showed remarkable enthusiasm and vigor. As each department commander and staff reached the stand from which General Young and his staff were reviewing the parade they took up a position at the right of the general staff. The marchers were two hours and twenty minutes passing the stand and comparatively few of the old soldiers were compelled to withdraw on account of fatigue.

The South Carolina men attracted a large share of attention, their palmetto flag being conspicuous. The largest delegations were from Virgina, Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee. Fou

$100,000 PLEDGED BY BAPTISTS TO RELIEVE THE MISSION BOARDS

Southern Convention Swept by Wave of Enthusiasm Just Before Last Midnight.

NO PRE-ARRANGED PLAN

Special Committee Had Recommended Curtailment of Administrative Expenses.

ELIMINATE SECRETARIES

Women to Erect $150,000 Training School Building.

Asheville, N. C., May 19. — Swept by a wave of enthusiasm that started with a gift of $25 when Rev. Dr. J. F. Love, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions, was explaining how the board had piled up a debt of $180,000 this year, the Southern Baptist Convention, in session here, pledged $80,344 before adjournment shortly after midnight towards clearing off the debt, and its officers and delegates promised to raise the full amount by Friday, and said they then would seek to raise the $72,000 debt facing the Home Mission Board.

Texas delegates promised to try to raise $20,000 for the foreign mission board debt in addition to the $80,000 pledges announced from the platform.

Movement Spontaneous.

The contributions came apparently without any prearranged plan at the end of a night session and after a committee to which the report of the Foreign Board had been referred had recommended stringent methods of economy for the board during the coming year. The report of the committee had been referred back to it and foreign missionaries, home on furlough, had told of their work and experiences. Dr. Love then asked to explain how the necessity of keeping up the evangelical work in foreign fields had forced the board to go in debt again this year. The offer of $25 came from the audience by a man whose name had not been announced before Joshua Levering, of Baltimore, Md., former president of the convention, pledged $5,000 provided the entire $180,000 was raised within sixty days.

R. E. Bert, a banker, of Houston, Texas, offered $5,000 on the same condition.

M. H. Wolfe, of Dallas, Texas, who was defeated at the opening session for the presidency of the convention, promised the Texas delegation would try to raise $20,000 in all.

Diamond Ring Given.

A woman sent a diamond ring to the platform, and contributions ranging from $5 in cash to $1,000 pledges began pouring in. Various state delegations promised amounts of from $5,000 to $10,000 and it was announced that other state delegations would announce their pledges after meeting Friday.

The Rev. Dr. J. L. Gross, of Houston, Texas, announced that telegrams would be sent over the South tonight asking aid, and in delivering the benediction prayed that "God may bless the wires of the Associated Press as they flash this news throughout the country."

APPEAL MADE IN BEHALF OF RUSSIAN PRISONERS OF WAR

Asheville, N. C., May 18.—Plans to send missionaries into German and Austrian prison camps to attempt to convert to the Baptist faith the "2,000,000 Russian prisoners of war" held there, were outlined to the Southern Baptist convention at its session here late today, which was devoted chiefly to hearing experiences of its missionaries returned from foreign fields. The idea of converting war prisoners was advanced by a native Russian, known in this country as William Fetler, who told the convention that he had been banished from Russia because of his religious activities after adopting the Baptist faith in Petrograd.

"After the war we can build churches in Russia," Fetler said, "but now we must take advantage of an opportunity we may never have again in a thousand years and convert these Russians in prison. If we can convert them to our Christian faith they will create such a religious awakening when they go home after the war as the world has never seen."

Many Delegates Weep.

No formal action was taken on the suggestion, but many delegates to the convention wept as Fetler described "religious persecutions in Russia of Jews and Baptists alike."

The convention went on record as endorsing a project brought to it by the Rev. Dr. Arthur T. Brooks, of Judson Memorial church, New York, for Southern Baptists to aid in clearing a $300,000 debt off this church which was built in the lower east side of the city in memorium to Adoniram Judson, one of the first Baptist missionaries. The church devotes itself chiefly, Dr.

STILL MORE LIQUOR SEIZED AT GIRARD, ALA.

Deputies Continue Operations to "Clean Up" the Town.

Barrels of "Booze" Found Buried in the Ground and Even Attached to Ropes in the Chattahoochee River—More Militia.

Girard, Ala., May 18.—The large force of deputies sent here by state officers yesterday to "clean up" this town and seize all liquor found, continued operations today without untoward incidents another company of National Guardsmen arrived today to assist in guarding the large amount of liquor seized and to preserve order should the officers meet resistence.

Not as much was found today as yesterday, but several hundred cases were seized and scores of barrels unearthed in all sorts of places in the town, on the outskirts and even attached to ropes in the Chattahoochee river which separates Georgia from Alabama here. M. S. Baughn, special representative of the Alabama attorney general, in charge of the raid, said today that he had not fairly started the clean up yet and today expected to continue the hunt for several days. Other officers thought the territory would be fully covered by tomorro wnight.

No resistence is expected here unless an effort is made to destroy the liquor. Baughn was balked today in his efforts to remove it from Russell county by a chancellory court injunction issued at Tuskegee, restraining removal of the seized goods from Girard. Five freight cars had been sent here to move it out. A hearing on the injunction is set for tomorrow.

Brooks said, to work among foreigners resident in New York.

The Southern Baptist Convention today received a telegram of greetings from the Northern Baptist convention in session at Minneapolis, Minn., and directed its secretary to reply. The question of the Northern and Southern conventions meeting at the same time and place in 1917 was brought up again when Baptists in Louisville, Ky., telegraphed an invitation to the Southern convention to meet there next year and said efforts were being made to get the Northern Baptists to come to Louisville at the same time. Kansas City Baptists also have sought to get the two conventions to meet there next year.

Against Inter-Church Union.

Approval of the stand of the Foreign Mission Board of the convention against joining other denominations in foreign missionary activities, and recommendation of several plans to lower the expenses of the board were made tonight by the committee to which the annual report of the Foreign Mission Board was referred after its presentation at the opening session.

Discontinuance of the two field secretaries employed by the foreign board to travel through the South and seek to arouse interest in the cause of foreign missions was asked, and the recommendation was made that the publications of the Home Mission Board and the Foreign Mission Board be united, and that the Woman's Missionary Union be invited to unite its publication with the joint magazine which thus would be formed. The field secretaries of the Home Mission Board are the Rev. C. J. Thompson, of Raleigh, N. C., and Rev. D. C. Graves, of Nashville, Tenn. While paying tribute to their work, the committee thought their services might be dispensed with.

Other Means Suggested.

Among other means suggested for lowering the debt of the foreign board was one which would provide that the current expenses of the board during the coming year should not exceed those of the past year, and that the churches try to enlarge their contributions to foreign missions.

The proposal to unite the three publications was referred without debate to a special committee, the remainder of the report going back to the committee which made it. The committee took occasion to praise the foreign board for its "economical methods" and pointed out that there are 95 self-supporting Baptist churches in the foreign field.

Those of the convention's foreign missionaries who did not address the convention at the afternoon session then were given the floor.

After several missionaries had been heard a collection was begun to clear the $180,000 debt of the foreign mission board and within a short time more than $50,000 had been pledged and the contributions continued to come in.

Work of the Women.

Women of the Southern Baptist churches raised $416,843 in cash and in value of boxes sent to missionaries during the last year, Mrs. W. C. Lowndes, treasurer of the Woman's Missionary Union, announced today at a meeting of the woman's section of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The sums raised for different purposes were as follows:

Foreign, $181,849; Home, $111,327; Sunday School Board, $1,268.71; Margaret Fund, $787.89; Training School, $22,878.24; Scholarship Fund, $6,126.08. Total, $324,226.92.

Jubilate offerings to Foreign Missions, $71,732.27; Jubilate offerings to Home Missions, $9,974.67. Cash total, $405,933.86.

Missionaries' Boxes, $10,909.91.

Cash and Box total, $416,843.77.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE MAKES SENSATIONAL RECOMMENDATION

Asheville, N. C., May 18.—In the opening hour of the service tonight the sensation of this session of the Southern Baptist Convention was sprung when Rev. George W. McDaniel, of Richmond, read the report of a special committee to which the report of the Foreign Mission Board had been referred. After a few brief sentences of commendation, the committee made some startling recommendations. Commending the secretaries for their efficient labor, the report recommends the discontinuance of three of the secretarial force. At the present time the foreign board employs three secretaries and two field secretaries. The proposed change is to have only two—the corresponding secretary and an editorial and educational secretary.

The report further recommends the consolidation of the Foreign Mission Journal and Home Field, that the publication be transferred to the Sunday School Board, and that the Woman's Missionary Union be requested to consolidate Royal Service with the new magazine. Further the committee recommends that the current expenses of the board shall not exceed the expenses of the past year and that the board shall have direct access to the churches and that the state secretaries co-operate in the new method.

The recommendations were referred to a committee and made a special order later in the session. The heavy debt on the foreign board, almost $180,000, is responsible for the proposed curtailment of administrative expense.

New Training School Building.

The day was featured with another movement equally as sensational but of entirely different nature. The Woman's Missionary Union adopted a report which proposes the immediate erection of a new building for the Louisville training school at Louisville, Ky., at a cost of $150,000. The present plant is inadequate and the Union has $52,000 in the treasury for the purpose of enlargement and a campaign will be launched to raise the balance, $98,000.

Dollar clubs will be organized throughout the South and the 15,000 women's missionary organizations will be enlisted in the enterprise. The training school has been a remarkable success from the start.

The women report total contributions for the year of $400,000.

A number of returned missionaries spoke at the foreign mission mass meeting tonight.

By all odds, the most remarkable report made to the convention so far is the report of the Woman's Missionary Union. The management has been a model of economy. At an expense of less than four per cent. these women have carried forward their work of enlistment, publicity, organization and have gathered and contributed to missions over $300,000. In their report to the convention these women say:

"We respectfully covet your close study of our reports. They are a challenge to the Union, with the most enthusiastic support and co-operation of the pastors to gather every young person and woman into the society best suited to them and see to it that they are stimulated to good works by receiving credit for their mission contributions.

The Union is raising one-third of all the money raised by the Southern Baptist convention, and at a minimum of expense. Their report was received with approbation and expression of amazement.

ANOTHER MAN OF WILMINGTON HAS OFFERED PRAISE

J. P. Caston Gained 7 Pounds On One Bottle --- He Says: "A Nervous Man Can't Handle a Razor Properly."

Another well known man of Wilmington to publicly indorse Tanlac, in return for what it has done for him, is J. P. Caston, of 60 Delgado street.

Mr. Caston, who is a barber, explained to the Tanlac Man recently: "I was in a general run-down condition and suffered a slight attack of nervousness when I started on Tanlac, because of it being recommended by many of my friends. My weight was below normal, and I was continuously afraid that nervousness would interfere, probably seriously, with my work. A nervous man can't handle a razor properly, as one can readily understand. At times I was attacked with dizzy spells; my sleep was broken and my appetite was very poor.

"I had taken only a few doses of Tanlac when friends started to tell me about my improved condition. From but one bottle of Tanlac I have picked up seven pounds in weight. There is an absence of that heavy, bloated feeling now; my sleep is sound and refreshing, and I feel good in general.

"Of course, I am going through with the full treatment of Six bottles, not that I want to gain seven pounds on each bottle, but because I feel the full course will have me in still better condition."

Tanlac is designed to overcome those ills that are prevalent today—stomach and liver ills, kidney ailments, catarrh of the head, throat and stomach; nervousness, dyspepsia, blood impurities, dizziness, headaches, and others of the modern maladies. It is sold only in Wilmington by the Bellamy Drug Co. There is a Tanlac druggist in every town.—adv.

PERCHES ON TOP OF THEATRE AND OPENS FIRE ON POLICEMEN

Norfolk Officers Unable to Make Man, Supposedly Demented, Come Down.

Norfolk, Va., May 19.—An unknown white man believed to be demented and perched upon the topmost ledge of the Majestic theatre, on Main street at midnight, began a revolver duel with every available policeman that rushed to the scene.

The man first began hurling bricks at pedestrians. When the police arrived he refused to come down and opened fire with revolver on the officers. From windows and doors the officers are trying to dislodge the sniper. The shooting is still in progress.

Bristol, Va.-Tenn., May 18.—Seventy-five employes of the Dixie Tannery declared a strike here this afternoon because they were refused a demanded flat wage increase of 25 cents per day. The man refused a compromise offered by the company ranging from 12 1-2 cents to 25 cents increase. Workers in the yards, finishing room and the loft walked out today and say that other workers from the beam room will walk out tomorrow and make a total of 160 men striking. The tannery employs 200 men.

Putnam's Address.

The world may, with assurance, look forward to the time when a peace enforced by a central authority will be as much of an ordinary condition of life as peace is today an accepted condition in the life of a city, state or nation, said George Haven Putnam, the publisher, in an address today before the Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration. He said:

"It is my own belief that international arbitration can be made effective only when the states of the world have been brought together into something in the form of a federation; that it is possible to bring into federated relations with one another states which possess varying characters, of interests and ambitions, and which will be left to retain their full independence of action, is shown by the organization of the Pan-American Union. Under the plan of the organization of the Pan-American Union, the decisions of the council have back of them for enforcement, the whole power of the states constituting the union.

"Our own Federal Union controls the peace between 48 independent states. Issues arising in these states, which in the old days of the Thirteen Colonies would have developed into friction and war, are now adjusted by the decisions of the Supreme Court, but the decisions carry authority and the adjustment remains permanent only because back of the court stands the whole organized power of the nation.

"The International Tribunal at The Hague had the weakness of presenting no provision for the enforcement of the decisions of the tribunal. In every civilized state of the world, decisions are now arrived at in a court. These court decisions would have little value, however, in maintaining peace in the communities unless back of the authority of the court stood an organized force. The plans outlined by the League to Enforce Peace make provision for carrying into effect the decisions of an international court and, so to speak, for enforcing conciliation by means of pressure, first economic, and then, if necessary, military brought to bear upon any state or states, which having accepted membership in the Federation, should refuse to abide by its decisions. The mere fact that authority has been organized for carrying out economic or military pressure, and the further fact that this authority represents no selfish interest on the part of any one state, or group of states, but the interests of the whole federation, which are the interests of civilization will, it is hoped, constitute a sufficient influence to render improbable, almost impossible, the risk of disobedience to the authority of the World's Supreme Court.

"A policy of free trade will, in my judgment, constitute the most important factor in maintaining peace in the world's federation of states."

TO CONSOLIDATE MISSIONARY WORK OF BAPTIST SOCIETIES.

Ends Long Controversy and a Threatened Break in Convention.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 18.—The Northern Baptist convention today disposed of one of the most important questions before the church by adopting unanimously a resolution providing for the consolidation of the missionary work of the American Baptist Publication Society and the American Baptist Home Mission Society, ending a controversy of years' standing and avoiding a threatened break in the convention.

Cheers greeted the adoption of the resolution and 3,000 Baptists arose and sang "Blest be the Tie That Binds."

A resolution, which had failed to pass at other meetings, was adopted today and was said by members to be directed mainly against certain influences of wealthy private foundations that confer endowments on non-denominational or inter-denominational institutions. It was said that some colleges go so far as to change their names to become eligible to receive such endowments, and the resolution directed the board of education to "be watchful of all attempts to extinguish or diminish Baptist influence or control of its educational institutions."

Reports of the Baptist board of education and the American Baptist Publication Society showed marked progress in the various branches of their work.

General George P. Harrison, the new commander of the Confederate Veterans, issued his first official order tonight in which he says:

"1. In compliance with the wish of my Confederate comrades as expressed in convention on yesterday the undersigned hereby assumes command of this association. Relying on the loyal support of his beloved associates and trusting in the mercy and goodness of God, he hopes to continue the prosperity and usefulness of the order.

"2. Comrade William E. Mickle will continue as adjutant general and chief of staff with the rank of Major General."

The retiring commander, General Bennet H. Young, tonight sent the following message to President Wilson:

"To the President:—The United Confederate Veterans, in annual convention, by unanimous vote wish to commend and endorse your conduct in keeping our country so far in honorable peace. At the same time they pledge you their cordial support to maintain at all times the dignity and honor of our government."

¶ Most popular-priced clothes are like a certain low-priced automobile—they have no distinction in their lines and they all are so painfully alike that the owner's identity is absorbed rather than expressed.

¶ That is precisely what does not happen at Solky's.

¶ We have kept the low level of popular prices, but we have elevated the style of the clothes, giving to the tailoring those fine distinctive touches which reveal character and conceal the cost.

¶ The models prove it, and the fabrics, too.

¶ At these popular prices we can show you the cleverest variations in smart Metropolitan clothes, including close-cut single-breasted effects, new 2-button models, and the latest novelty, the pinch-back suit, which is a corker for style.

FAYETTEVILLE BEATS PARKTON IN THRILLING 9TH INNING.

Fayetteville, N. C., May 18.—In a thrilling ninth inning finish Fayetteville defeated the Parkton team 4 to 3, here yesterday afternoon. The ninth inning opened with the score 3 to 1 against the local team. Two men were retired and chances for a Fayetteville victory were seemingly gone when Fry doubled to deep left. Murphy Currie was put in to bat for Tomlinson and hit for two bases, scoring Fry. Baird, Fayetteville's new pitcher, beat out a hit to third, Currie scoring from second on the play. The Parkton players kicked strenuously on the decision at first base and Baird raced home with the winning run while the argument was going on.

Both Baird and Canady pitched good ball, allowing three hits apiece. Baird struck out 17 batters.

The Fayetteville team now has a good chance to represent Eastern Carolina in the struggle for the amateur championship of the State. It has won seven of the last nine games played. The management declares that the team is open to challenge from any club in the eastern half of the State.

the best features of the entire bill, in my opinion, however, is the Hensley resolution looking to a permanent peace. The adoption of that will mean more to the world than any other part of the measure."

Secretary Daniels' Statement.

Secretary Daniels said:

"Of course I think it would have been best if the House committee had reported the five-year programme, but I understood that at no time was it possible to secure the votes of a majority of the committee for this larger proposition.

"A very considerable number of the naval officers who testified before the committee showed that they favored building battle cruisers instead of battleships for a time owing to the pressing need of this type of ship, which represents the highest type of warship design.

"The opinion of the general board, however, in which I concur, was that it was probably wiser to divide our new construction of capital ships this year between dreadnaught and battle cruisers.

"However, the need for these swift huge, heavily-gunned ships is so pressing when we consider the other great navies of the world that I had far rather see the number I suggested increased than diminished. As I said at the time, the programme I presented to Congress represented a minimum and not a maximum of each type.

"I am told that the actual amount of money appropriated for this year in the bill as reported by the committee is more than the amount recommended in my report. The big difference is that the bill covers this year only instead of committing us to a definite increase for the four years to follow. So far as the other ships are concerned outside of the capital ships provided there is no essential difference between those now in the bill and as recommended in my report for the first year.

"I am sorry that the battleships were eliminated and I would be gratified if they were restored before the bill came to the President. One thing about the committee's report is extremely gratifying and that is that members of the committee who voted for only one battleship last year, this year voted for five battle cruisers."

Swift Scout Cruisers.

The only new ship design already completed by the Navy Department is for the scout cruisers. They will displace between 7,000 and 8,000 tons, have a maximum speed of 35 knots an hour and mount ten 6-inch long range rifles. Nothing of similar speed or radius of action now is afloat or has been proposed by any foreign designers so far as known.

The battle cruisers designs are not complete although it has been decided that they will be 650 feet in length, have a speed of 35 knots, a range of action of 10,000 sea miles, a displacement of 32,000 tons and either eight or ten of the heaviest guns afloat. If ten guns are mounted they will be 14-inch, 50 calibre main batteries and if eight guns are decided upon they will carry 16-inch rifles, the heaviest ever put afloat.

Plans for the battleships which Secretary Daniels still is confident Congress will provide call for 35,000-ton ships, mounting ten 16-inch rifles each and with a speed of 21 or more knots an hour. They will have 4,000 tons more displacement than ships to be laid down this year and exceed by nearly 6,000 tons any foreign battleship built or building, so far as navy designers know.

The battle cruisers will cost $20,000,000 each as against $18,000,000 estimated for the dreadnaughts. On the basis of the committee bill, navy experts figure that this Congress will provide at least a total of $94,000,000 for new ships.

NATIONAL RELIGIOUS TRAINING SCHOOL NOW IS CLEAR OF DEBT

Dr. Minot Morgan, of New Jersey, Delivers Commencement Address.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Durham, N. C., May 18.—The commencement exercises of the National Religious Training School here today were featured by a strong address by Rev. Dr. Minot Morgan, of Summit, N. J., who delivered a powerful address on "Preparedness." The Avery auditorium was packed for the exercises.

The principal event of the day, however, was the announcement of Mr. J. B. Mason, treasurer of the institution, that the last debt of the school had been lifted and that it was not necessary to borrow one penny in order to make that statement. Already plans are being laid for new buildings and better working facilities and the endowment fund was fixed at $250,000.

The school, which is a negro institution, began work with a heavy bonded indebtedness, but the aid of such men as Mr. Mason and Gen. Julian S. Carr was solicited and the interest they have taken has produced wonderful results. Two unknown people, a woman and man of New York state, have been the biggest donors to the school, but up until the present time the officials have seen fit to keep the names of these two people secret.

Now and then a city's floating debt gets so heavy that it floats a lot of bonds so as to get a long time in which to pay off the principal and interest.

Mr. Thomas Edison, the electric wizard, has declared himself in favor of Roosevelt's nomination. This is the first intimation that the great inventor's age is telling on him.

When an orthodox Democrat wonders if the old time faith is still in existence, he can get comfort by reading the editorials of the scholarly veteran who edits the Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

General Pershing says everything is all right with the army in Mexico in spite of the newspaper correspondents who have expressed so many fears that Carranza's troops were going to head off the whole bunch.

Norway, Sweden and Denmark declare that their sufferings have been great as innocent bystanders, but they do not propose under any circumstances to make it a great deal worse by getting into the European war.

Some people don't like the "slanguage" spoken by Billy Sunday, but Billy puts in only a little bit of it compared with lots of sermon. When he gets down to business he uses chaste and beautiful and effective English.

This is about the time for the aged Mr. Root to announce that he was never in better health and is good for at least ten more years of life. That would provide him with two terms as president so he could gracefully retire at 80 years of age.

We are leaving it to President Wilson to do our part in handling Germany, England, Mexico and San Domingo. We have no advice to give him because he is in a position to know more about it than any of those who give advice without knowing one-tenth as much as the President as to what they are talking about.

A certain bunk thrower has been calling the Wilson administration cowardly, but Americans who think observe that meanwhile the President has been carrying on a war of brains with Germany, England and Mexico. What America lacked in naval and military preparedness she had in the cerebral strategy that has saved the army and the navy all sorts of trouble. Nevertheless, there are individuals who have pitted their beans against the head of a professor.

New York thinks it "knows all" and then some till it realizes how unsophisticated people become while living in a great city. A Mexican has been having fun with Gothamites by selling them chunks of brass and glass as gold and diamonds, grievously sacrificing them in order to get back to his wife and three children from whom he says he was driven by bandits. New Yorkers might as well go on betting on the ponies and subscribing money to send a sick woman to the hospital.

WHY DON'T THEY NAME THEIR SAMSON?

For some reason or other, strong interests in the United States vehemently insist that Carranza is not capable of establishing stable government in Mexico. We don't know the Honorable Carranza, but after having watched the Mexican upheaval for seven years we have to acknowledge that Carranza has better control of the situation than all the other chiefs that have arisen. He now dominates a larger portion of Mexico than ever did Huerta, so it is passing strange that if any other Mexican is more capable of the work he hasn't shown up and gotten on the job. We wonder why the interventionist agitators do not name some of their "strong men" who haven't so much as shown that they have as much of a following as either Villa or Zapata. Practically speaking, the Carranza government's only armed opposition consists of bands led by two bandit chiefs. If the interventionists know any strong men who can hurriedly put down the bandits, why don't they name their man?

For the very reason that Carranza has so far demonstrated more capability than any other Mexican in handling the terrible situation in that country, the Washington administration has recognized him as the real governing power in Mexico. Any disinterested man would have come to the same conclusion, for the logic of events points to Carranza as the only man who has accomplished a thing towards the pacification of Mexico. If all Americans would recognize the facts and join their government in recognizing Carranza, the difficulties of the United States in Mexico would be far less grave than they are at present.

A large number of opposition Americans are making about as much trouble for Uncle Sam as are the Mexicans themselves. The Mexican factions have taken advantage of differences among Americans as to their country, but when once the Mexicans understand that all Americans are back of their government, the situation down there will improve. As it is, we have a government which has done its best to avoid intervention, while a very strong and influential group of Americans have done all they could to bring on intervention. When the American government once decides on a policy, persistent attempts to make that policy an abortion comes so nearly being traitorous that we would like to know what else it can be called.

The worst part of it is that a very large portion of the American press, whether maliciously, consciously or unwittingly, lend their aid either directly or indirectly to the oppositionists in the United States. A country stubbornly divided against itself is just as apt to fall as a house.

THE HOG AND THE SOUTH

The South has demonstrated to itself that its adaptabilities for raising hogs are as peculiar and just as great as they are for growing cotton, tobacco, peanuts, corn, potatoes, hay, forage crops and all the products calculated to make it the ideal portion of America for the most extensive and comprehensive system of farm diversification. The whole South is interested in hog raising, for that world standard of all meat animals can be raised cheaper in the South than in any other region in America. The possibilities are being comprehended and it is being realized that the South is going to have a great hog industry.

The slogan now is more hogs, better hogs and packing houses for Southern hogs. We don't know how soon the fraternal orders are going to take a hand in promoting the South's hog industry, but nearly everybody else is getting in the game. It is funny work for a telephone company, but it is not too funny for the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company to make it a part of its business to get in touch with the hogs within the zone of its circuits. It is not going to talk to hogs but it is already talking hogs and talking up the hog industry. The telephone company is a live wire institution, and it is so progressive that it is getting busy as a promoter of the South's hog industry.

The Augusta Chronicle tells us that the telephone exchange there, in accordance with the policy of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company, has taken the hog census for the Georgia territory tributary to Augusta. The census was taken and compiled and came as a surprise to The Chronicle, which is a hog paper itself. Right close to Augusta the farmers acknowledge ownership of 3,566 hogs, with the returns not all in. Each farmer reporting had from one to 500 hogs. One farmer had 500, another 200, quite a number 150 each, and lots of them reported from 50 to 100. The Chronicle says:

"The Chronicle has already commented on the work being done by the telephone company along this line. It is engaged in organizing the farmers, primarily those having telephones, into associations which, though agents appointed by the members, will be in better position to market the hogs they are growing than the individual growers ca npossibly be, and it is the comers can possibly be, and it is the comeach other the agents of these associations and the packers and stock buyers throughout the state, in this way broadening the market for both the farmer and the packer, believing that whatever benefits the community in general will benefit the telephone company. The plan has been outlined to numerous farmers, bankers and packers and has met with universal approval. For general information, there are printed copies of letters which have been received on this subject from Governor J. A. McCord, of the Atlanta Regional Bank, and Mr. J. J. Brown, president of the State Farmers' Union."

That is what we call constructive work, and the newspapers, the chambers of commerce, the banks and everybody is falling in line We will hardly have room here to say "packing house" to Wilmington, but anyhow 9,000 hogs were slaughtered at Wilmington's abattoir last year. The Star has been hogging it a long time, and even the Federal Reserve banks are on the job now. Mr. Joseph A. McCord, governor general of the Reserve Bank, also of Atlanta, writes this to Mr. Chauncey Smith, of the long distance department of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company:

"Referring to the conversation had with you yesterday, beg to say that the Federal Reserve Bank is endeavoring to aid its member banks, where they are disposed to aid the cattle raisers or those who would be willing to prepare cattle for market. The Federal Reserve Act itself recognizes the importance of this matter, and it is written in the organic law in section 13 of the act, which provides as follows:

"'That notes, drafts and bills drawn or issued for agricultural purposes, or based on livestock, and having a maturity of not exceeding six months from the time offered to the Federal Reserve Bank, may be discounted in an amount to be limited to a percentage of the capital of the Federal Reserve Bank, to be ascertained and fixed by the Federal Reserve Board.'

"This law applied to the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta, would give us the right to discount these notes up to $2,000,000. We have encouraged the raising of cattle by pointing out this provision of the law, and urging our member banks to aid people who want to raise or prepare stock for market. We are glad to note that the industry is being developed, and that abattoirs are being established in this district. We are quite sure that this will be beneficial to the trade, and it would certainly be a great benefit to put the raisers of cattle in daily communication with these plants, in order to obtain the best price for their products.

"The unfortunate situation in this district is that we have about 400 member banks, whereas there are over 2,000 state banks, and these state banks, up to this time, have not expressed their willingness to join our system. We can see no reason why they should still hold out in their decision not to join, but certainly if the state banks should join the Federal Reserve system it would be a great help to the cattle raisers' industry, because the state banks are usually in the smaller communities and come in closer touch with the farmer, and with this advantage of the law it would enable them to build up a wonderful industry that is very much needed in this section of the United States."

Mr. J. J. Brown, president of the Georgia State Farmers' Alliance, also writes the telephone company that he is in hearty accord with its hog raising promotion scheme, and he offers the co-operation of the Alliance in the plan to get producers and consumers and buyers and sellers together so that marketing may become more economical for the farmers and more satisfactory for buyers and consumers.

THE NEED OF AN AUDITORIUM

One great need of a city the size of Wilmington is a commodious auditorium, and whether it be a public or a private institution the proper management ought to make it a self-supporting if not a profitable concern. By no means should the people of Wilmington permit the Chapman-Alexander Tabernacle to be torn down to liquidate the debt hanging over it, for it can be made a splendid asset of the city. Such an auditorium is needed at times and an enterprising management could make it a decided attraction as a place for refined and high class entertainments during the different seasons of the year. With reference to what is to be done with our Tabernacle, the Charlotte Observer has this to say:

"The Chapman campaign in Wilmington was a more expensive thing than had been counted on. It was estimated that the cost would fall within $5,400 but its actual total was $6,000. The underwriters of the campaign are now proposing to tear down the Tabernacle and endeavor to make up the deficit by the salvage. Doctor Chapman had announced at the beginning of the campaign that the expenses would probably be met from the collections of the first ten days of the meetings, but in this there was a disappointment. An effort is being made to secure enough money by public subscription to save the Tabernacle and there is a possibility that this may be done."

The Star would suggest that the citizens of Wilmington get out a charter for an auditorium company and take over the Tabernacle. It would be a splendid place for a great organ recital and a spring or fall music festival and for a class of entertainments exceptional for their character, size and attraction. It would be capital for large conventions, and Wilmington would sooner or later find it an exceedingly useful institution. Probably the accoustic properties of the Tabernacle would be the only matter to be considered, but a good architect might easily remedy any defect in that particular.

Norfolk has just had a successful music festival that attracted tremendous audiences, and it has reminded the people of that city that one of that city's needs is a commodious auditorium. The Virginian-Pilot is emphasizing that need and believes a handsome institution of that kind would amply remunerate Norfolk. So it would.

JUDGE STACY'S FIRST TERM

Having just completed his first term of Superior Court in the county which gave him to the judiciary of the State, it is pleasing to note the very fine impression which His Honor, Judge W. F. Stacy, has made upon all who have had occasion to observe him on the bench.

Perhaps not in a generation has a presiding judge in the county been called upon to direct the machinery of a court at a more important term—a term in which three capital cases have been disposed of—and there is no gainsaying the fact that Judge Stacy, in the conduct of the cases, has displayed a knowledge of the law, a sense of the proprieties and a judicial temperament that have not only fully justified the faith of his friends, but have won him the plaudits of the entire community.

The "youngest judge on the bench in North Carolina" already has proved himself a veteran in administration of the law and in holding the scales of justice with an even hand.

Somebody says we would have a "fathers' day," but mother's idea about it is that father can have every night for his own if he will come home early and stay without trying to make out like he is obliged to spend a few of his nights at the office to keep his correspondence from getting the best of him.

A man says a dollar fern that had to be watered and carried in and out day and night during the winter called for as much attention as a Jersey cow. Since warm weather has arrived, he says he handles as much water as if he were operating a waterworks plant, which a fern is.

PENDER FARMERS FOR PACKING HOUSE

To the Edtor of The Star:

In regard to the establishment of a packing house in Wilmington, I wish to say that I know of nothing that would be of more benefit to the farmers of Pender county than a packing house.

The experience of our farmers the past season, with their fresh pork on the Wilmington market, was such as to disgust them with the business of raising meat for market, whereas, with a packing house that could and would pay a fair price for the meat, they would be encouraged to grow more instead of less, as they are sorely tempted to do under present conditions. By all means, let your business men take hold of this project and push it through, so our farmers may know that when they have pork for the market they will have a market that will justify them in raising it. That Wilmington would reap a big benefit from such an enterprise ought to be too plain to need any argument, as the more the farmers prosper the more every one else shares it.

I have no doubt some of our Pender farmers would be gla dto take stock in it. W. D. CROOM.

CURRENT COMMENT

Capt. Haywood Clark, the eastern section's candidate for Secretary of State, was a Journal caller last week. Captain Clark's thorough equipment for this place is an established fact and we found in him all pleasing personalities which he was reputed to possess. Bladen people could well afford to support him as a choice, and then with the consideration that he is "home folks" living just across the line at Wilmington, it will be almost compulsory to vote for Haywood Clark for this office.—Bladen Journal.

The most important political news of the day, says a Washington correspondent, is that Roosevelt has shied his hat into the ring as a full-fledged candidate for the Presidency. No news about that. He has been such ever since Taft refused to make way for him in 1912. In fact, he only put Taft in four years before that with the understanding on his own part that My Dear Will was to keep the place warm for him for four years and then use the patronage and influence of the office to restore it to the rightful owner. For such we believe the diseased vanity of the man regards himself.—Norfolk Virginian-Pilot.

A trainload of soldiers en route for the Mexican border which passed through the city, calls to mind the days of the Spanish-American war and really, it appears that the United States is not going to take any more foolishness down there on the border. Incidentally the fellow that might be shuddering about the chances of war and the horrible thought of the idea hasn't been talking with the fellows who make up appear ready to don the khaki and the State guard who almost to a man, start for the south.—Rocky Mount Telegram.

Orangeburg is to have a packing plant. Probably $150,000 to $200,000 will be invested, and it is said the plant will be large enough to furnish a buyer for most of the cattle and hogs grown in the state. Orangeburg citizens deserve credit for going ahead with the establishment of this industry, and if at any time in the future other towns in the state feel that they ought to have a similar industry, let them remember that the field was as wide as the state and the way was open. Rock Hill might have been the meat packing center of South Carolina, but the opportunity is gone now and it is useless to lament the fact. If the growing of cattle and hogs should attain large proportions, it may be that in the future there will be an opportunity for another packing house in a different section of the state; and when that day comes the Herald trusts that Rock Hill will be ready to grasp the opportunity.—Rock Hill Herald.

The Wilmington Star is urging the need of a packing house in the eastern district, along with such valuable institutions as creameries, etc. With a tendency towards crop diversification last year and a reptition this year in the State the need of a packing house becomes the more pressing. Already South Carolina is taking steps to meet the situation and it seems certain that one or more packing houses will be established in that state this year. South Carolina raised more hogs last year than ever before in its history. Interest in the production of beef cattle seems also to have kept pace. The result has been an over-supply of meat at periods for home consumption. The same situation has developed in sections of our State. The only sure and certain way in which to have a steady and profitable market guaranteed the whole year round for meat products is the establishment of a packing house where meats may be stored until fair and profitable prices are assured. Being the center of a large agricultural section we can think of nothing more important just now along this line than the establishment here of a modern and adequate packing house. With a creamery already going, such added institution would be a great mutual benefit to farmers and the city alike.—Charlotte News.

HEALTH IS WEALTH

by John B. Huber, A.M., M.D.

The first occupation of the consumption sufferer should be to labor to get well.—DR. BREHMER.

The Consumptive Patient

UPON being told of his malady the patient is likely to become dreadfully affected; will look the doctor anxiously in the face. But the latter has composed his features to clear-eyes, calm and gentle sympathy; and his voice is both firm and kindly while he is meeting the patient's quivering lips, the white tense dilated nostrils, and the swimming eyes, over which are presently put the trembling fingers.

Following on this initial shock, however, the patient's psychology is pretty much that of the volunteer soldier. When the idea of going into the battle first confronts the recruit, he will have a sense of terror no matter how well-established his courage; but his emotion is certain presently to give way to that of exultation and to a belief that the fight which has to be made will ultimately be a victorious one.

The patient must be obedient to his physician; and persistent in every detail of the treatment enjoined upon him. He will be for the most part confident of his recovery—a state of mind (the spes phthisicorum) happily prevalent among consumptives. He must understand that his improvement and final recovery will depend largely on his own conduct. He must consider, before he undertakes any business or other matter, how his chances of getting well will be affected thereby. He must make it a habit to converse with no one except his physician or his nurse about his disease. He must absolutely not adopt the prescriptions of solicitous friends. However well he may imagine himself he must continue under his doctor's care until he has been dismissed. Patients have been known to lose faith in their doctor or their nurse; let such a patient straightway get another doctor or another nurse. As we have considered there is no routine medicines, no set prescription for the cure of consumption. And medicines are now held subsidiary to hygienic measures. The doctor individualizes in treating the consumptive, as he must indeed for all patients of whatever disease. The various organic functions have to be regulated, according to the peculiar conditions and necessity, and the complex relations of the organs and tissues.

SICK HEADACHE.

R. B. writes: I am subject to sick headache spells, which come on quite frequently, so severe sometimes that I have to call a physician to administer drugs by way of the "hypo" to get relief. Could you advise anything that one could follow or adapt himself to so that such spells would be less frequent or would disappear entirely? I am a man of stout proportions, 310 pounds, exceptionally good appetite; I eat a great deal of meat; use very little alcoholic beverages; farmer by occupation. My stomach and bowels always seem to be in good action when these spells come on, but my kidneys do not act so freely then as at other times.

Answer: Cut out the "hypos"; that way disaster surely lies. 80 per cent. of "dope fiends" have begun by taking medicines just that way. Migraine appears to be your trouble, and the bottom of this trouble probably lies in your kidneys. Get the urine examined; then you will know what you have to contend with. Obviously you eat too much, especially meat. Be sure your bowels, kidneys and skin are always acting freely. It certainly won't do, especially in your case, to klinker up the bodily machinery. Besides the kidneys, other causes of this sick headache are eye strain (perhaps you need to have glasses fitted), worry, insufficient sleep.

APOMORPHINE.

F. D. B. writes: What is apomorphine?

Answer: An alkaloid derived from morphine by the action of strong acids or zinc chlorid. There is little danger of an apomorphine habit, because this drug is very nauseating. It is a powerful emetic in cases of poisoning. The dose by the mouth is 1-8 grain. Physicians (none others should do this) give the drug hypodermically, when swallowing is difficult. But the drug is very depressing to the heart and has caused death by cardiac failure.

LARGE AUDIENCES AT CHAUTAUQUA OPENING

Killarney Girls Capture Patrons at First Concerts

Largest Crowds Ever Assembled on Opening Day Greet Attractions at Afternoon and Evening Entertainments at Tabernacle.

Probably the largest and certainly the most appreciative audience that has even attended an opening night's Chautauqua programme in Wilmington turned out last night at the Tabernacle to hear the Redpath attractions. It is estimated that fully 2,000 were present in the evening, and the enthusiasm displayed spoke volumes for the hold which this variety of entertainment has on the people of the city. A large crowd also attended the remarkably interesting entertainment given at the Tabernacle in the afternoon.

The two performances yesterday opened most auspiciously the seven-day Chautauqua course offered Wilmingtonians by the Redpath bureau, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, and according to Superintendent O. E. Behymer, in charge of the programme, attendance was larger than ever before on an opening day. The Killarney Girls in costume, in songs, recitations and impersonations; and Mr. William Rainey Bennett, lecturer, were the stars of yesterday's performances. This afternoon the Weatherwax Brothers' quartet, who have had years of practice together, will render both vocal and trumpet selections. Tonight the Weatherwax Brothers will appear again, and Mr. Montraville Wood will give his wonderful scientific demonstration. Mr. Wood will give a demonstration of the mono-rail car and the gyroscope, among other of his inventions. He will illustrate the wonderful possibilities of this little machine. Mr. Wood is also the inventor of the little but universal electric push button.

The hour of the afternoon performances is 3:30 o'clock, and the evening performances 8 o'clock.

Killarney Girls Please.

The musical part of the programme was furnished by the Killarney Girls, and a pleasing one it was. They were "Wearin' o' the Green," with soft white kerchiefs, flounces and flower-trimmed hats. They seemed almost as if they might have some kinship with the Irish fairies that Irish folk believe in and watch for in Ireland on certain nights in spring. Their voices were so clear, their faces were so fresh and smiling, that they set every one into a gale of laughter and hand-clapping. All were singers, two were violinists, two were readers and perhaps all were pianists. It "did one good," as the saying goes, to hear some of the people in the audience laughing out loud in genuine enjoyment of the funny songs and speeches. Miss Rita Rich, Miss Kearn, Miss Max, Miss Whiteside, Miss Wurno and Miss Andrews were the members of the company. They appeared in Irish costumes, they wore Irish expressions, they sang Irish songs, and they smiled Irish smiles. It would not have been difficult, indeed, to believe that they were all born in Cork. And several of them seemed equally proficient at the piano. Misses Max and Whiteside proved skillful with the violin.

Miss Rita Rich, the leader of the company, displayed marked histrionic skill. Nothing of its kind could possibly be better than her imitation of a little girl telling the story of her illness with the mumps.

Miss Rich's rendition of an Indian war song in which she impersonated the weird notes to perfection, was greatly appreciated by the audience, who also accorded her enthusiastic applause at the close of a patriotic Scotch ballad.

William Rainey Bennett.

Mr. William Rainey Bennett in his lecture on the subject of "The Man Who Can" kept the big audience last night in an uproar practically during the whole time he was on the platform. His rare humor and flashes of wit often came at the most unexpected times, and the serious parts of his address, which is calculated to inspire young men and young women to find themselves, was so interspersed with side comments in a humorous vein, that he richly earned the enthusiastic applause which greeted his efforts.

Mr. Bennett's theme was that he can who thinks he can; that in every brain there is a sleeping genius and that it can be awakened. Mr. Bennett said that he hoped his lecture would help young men and women to find themselves, and he begged of his hearers to go forth this morning determined never to say die. "No man is down and out until he admits it to himself," said Mr. Bennett.

The speaker said that success has two great elements—personality and intelligence—and he gave examples of these and analyzed them. He attempted to show that, all things equal between two men, it was personality and intelligence that made one win, and lack of these qualities that made the other fail. He said that every successful movement is a brain movement. He said that conscience must be the captain in real success.

Mr. Bennett does not favor those who are satisfied, and he said that the real great men are they who admit that they have not had time in life to do all that they would like to do.

TO DELIVER ADDRESS.

Col. Walker Taylor to Speak to Palmetto Underwriters' Association.

Col. Walker Taylor left yesterday afternoon for Columbia, S. C., where today he will make one of the principal addresses before the South Carolina Underwriters' Association, which is in session in that city. Colonel Taylor is one of the best known insurance agents in the South and his address to the Palmetto insurance agents will be of particular interest at this time because of the recent agitation over the new insurance law in that state.

TENTATIVE DRAFT OF NEW CITY BUDGET MADE

Increase Made in Appropriations For Several Items.

City Council Will Soon Have Proposed Expenditures for Year in Shape for Formal Ratification. Health Department.

The City Council was in informal session for something over two hours last night at the City Hall going over the budget for the ensuing fiscal year and considering various matters in connection therewith.

While the work was not completed a tentative draft of the new budget was made and this will later be brought up at a formal session and passed upon. However, it is expected that another conference will be held to further agree upon the various appropriations.

The budget, it is expected, will show some increases over last year, but not to any large extent. The appropriation for waterworks will be necessarily larger on account of the greatly increased cost of chemicals used at the filter plant, one of the ingredients used —alum—being higher by more than 100 per cent. This will have to be taken care of in making a contract for these chemicals for the ensuing fiscal year. Another horse for this department, it is stated, will also have to be bought.

Another increase is in the appropriation for repair of streets, which has been found imperative, $7,000 having been tentatively agreed upon for material for repairs instead of $5,000 as appropriated last year and which was all too small as the condition of many of the improved streets will now testify.

It is also stated that there has been an increase of about $1,900 in the budget asked for by the Health Department, this increase being largely in the matter of salaries. There is also, of course, an increase, included in this amount, for materials for the laboratory. The increase in salaries are said to be for the stenographer employed in the office, for one of the nurses, for an employe at the incinerator and for the chief of the sanitary inspectors. This appropriation will have to be later agreed upon jointly by the Board of Health and the Council concurrently.

Members of the Council, all of whom were present, also Mayor Moore, City Clerk and Treasurer Meares, City Attorney Robert Ruark and other department heads, went very carefully into the details of the budget and it is expected that it will be some days before it is finally agreed upon.

After being tentatively drafted it will, of course have to come up for formal ratification at a regular session of the Council.

WILL ASSIST DR. HOGUE.

Rev. Mercer Green Johnston Expects to Become Social Worker Soon.

The announcement made in a dispatch from Baltimore, Md., stating that Rev. Mercer Green Johnston, who will resign the rectorship of Trinity Episcopal church in Newark, N. J., because, as he says, he refuses to conduct his church "like a grocery store," will engage in a new sociological church work with Rev. Dr. Richard W. Hogue, former rector of Ascension Episcopal church in Baltimore, will be of particular interest to Dr. Hogue's many friends in Wilmington, where the latter was formerly rector of St. James' Episcopal church. Says the Baltimore dispatch:

"Dr. Hogue had an experience almost similar to that of his chum and classmate, Dr. Johnston. It was his freedom of speech and manner of dealing plainly with sociological and humanitarian matters that brought about a division of feeling in the fashionable Baltimore church. Many were with the rector and some were not. The vestry of Ascension, like that of Trinity in Newark, divided in its support and non-support of the advanced views of the rector. Finally Dr. Hogue resigned.

"Then he started a forum, or open discussion meetings, Sunday afternoons in the leading theatre of the city. These meetings have become very popular, especially with the labor unionists. A socialistic spirit pervades them. Recently Mr. Johnston occupied the platform at one of these Sunday meetings with his friend, Dr. Hogue, and then intimated that he was about to sever his connection with the Newark church. In his address he very forcefully declared that the clergyman who would sacrifice a principle to retain his position as rector was a disgrace to the church. The statement evoked an enthusiastic indorsement from the audience. Dr. Hogue continues in close friendship with Bishop Murray, head of the Maryland Diocese, and with other Episcopal clergymen of this city, by all of whom he is recognized as a preacher of marked ability.

"Dr. Hogue said that Dr. Johnston probably would not be directly associated with him in the work which he has taken up, but that he intended to afford a means for clergymen who feel as he does to work with him along sociological lines.

"'We probably will work in Baltimore,' said Dr. Hogue, 'and in other places in pairs, making visits to all places where we feel we can do any good preaching not the individualistic evangelism of the Billy Sunday type, but striking the social note in its relation between the church and industrial problems.

"'Mr. Johnston will not leave the Episcopal church. He is one of the most devout men I have ever known, and in many ways is a remarkable character'."

"SAND PIPER" NOW AT WORK.

Big Dredge at Wrightsville Beach Repaired After Temporary Delay.

After having suspended operations for several weeks on account of the blowing out of a transformer, the "Sand Piper", the big suction dredge, is again at work. The dredge is operated by electricity and has a capacity for reclaiming several acres of land each month. Already more than 1,000 cubic yards of sand have been placed on shore by the dredge.

The Tidewater Power Company has secured permission to fill in as much as 500 acres of the marsh land and it is the purpose of this concern to greatly enlarge the island. This will be made the center of the beach development. It is planned to build a modern summer and winter hotel on the island later. Work on a large auditorium for the use of conventions and other gatherings is already under way and the building will be completed in time for the use of conventions this summer.

DATES FOR CORN SHOW HAVE BEEN DECIDED

November 7th to 10th, One Week Earlier Than Last Year.

Prize List Agreed Upon and Book Will Be Issued—Meeting of Executive Committee—Features.

It was definitely decided to hold the annual Wilmington Corn Show, November 7 to 10, inclusive, one week earlier than last year, and to issue a book containing the prize list and other general information to be circulated over the nine counties embraced in the territory, at an important meeting of the Executive Committee of the organization held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon.

It is planned to have a much larger show next fall, which is indicated from the fact that the prizes approximate almost $1,000 in addition to the banners, ribbons, etc.; as shown in the detail of the large list. An important feature in regard to this is the inauguration of the department plan, which makes the different classes of exhibits separate and distinct with a director in charge of each. This will greatly simplify the prize list and will make it much more interesting to exhibitors

The prize books will be circulated with the object of placing them in the hands of the farmers and people generally throughout the territory, who will be interested in making entries many of whom have already manifested a desire to participate in the event. In changing the dates of the show to one week earlier it is believed that the weather will be more pleasant than last year and it will attract a much larger crowd, especially in view of the fact that arrangements are being perfected much sooner and all will have ample time to prepare to make entries It is expected that there will be a number of additional features that will attract interest.

Several members of the committee at the meeting yesterday expressed themselves as being strongly impressed with the idea of holding forth under a tent again this year, which, of course, will mean a central and convenient location. The splendid success of last year was vividly recalled and there is a strong probability that the same plan will be adopted.

Of added interest this year will be the different county exhibits. Efforts will be made to have them much larger and attractive prizes have been arranged to stimulate this feature. Four different counties were represented at the meeting yesterday and the matter of special exhibits, in keeping with the plans, received consideration. It is the plan to have committees appointed in each county, under the direction of out-of-town members of the executive committee, for the purpose of advising the people in their different preliminary arrangements.

These present at the meeting yesterday were as follows: T. R. Ames, chairman; C. VanLeuven, vice chairman; Raymond Hunt, J. P. Herring, J. M. Solky, H. B. Branch, Miss Margaret Gibson and Messrs. N. A. Currie, of Clarkton; J. T. Bland, of Burgaw, and J. J. Hendren, of Chadbourn.

BACK FROM RALEIGH

Sheriff Cowan and Deputies Landed Melvin Horne in State Prison.

Sheriff S. P. Cowan, County Officer H. Mack Godwin and Deputy Sheriffs E. C. Reynolds and J. M. Branch returned last night from Raleigh, where they went to take to the State prison Melvin Horne, convicted at this week's term of the Superior Court of murder in the first degree and sentenced to die July 21 in the electric chair at Raleigh.

The officers stated that Horne was turned over to the State prison authorities at about 1 o'clock yesterday morning immediately upon their arrival at Raleigh. He gave them no trouble whatever on the trip and reiterated his statement at the depot the afternoon previously, that he had no ill will towards anyone in Wilmington and the officers were asked to make that statement for him. Horne, the officers stated, seemed perfectly resigned and seemed to have only one fear of the State prison—he didn't want to be placed in what is known as the death cell, a request, which, of course, could not be granted by the State prison authorities.

He has not yet, so far as is known, consented to sign the necessary affidavit for another appeal to the Supreme Court, but there appears little doubt but that an appeal will be taken or that an effort will be made to have the Governor commute the sentence from death to life imprisonment. It has been rumored on the street ever since his conviction that the jury which tried him—or at least 10 of the 12 men —would join in a petition to the governor to make such a commutation.

MATINEE AT VICTORIA.

Howard & Wells to Show Pictures for Children Tomorrow Afternoon.

Messrs. Howard & Wells announced yesterday that in a further effort to make the children's matinees a success, they had decided to transfer them to the Victoria theatre, where they can be presented all afternoon, giving the children and grownups alike a better opportunity of witnessing the shows.

For tomorrow afternoon the show will start promptly at 2 o'clock, and two other performances, starting at 3:15 and 4:30 will be given, a total of three complete shows every Saturday afternoon. The admission, to both children and adults will be only five cents.

For tomorrow's show a stupendous and costly production has been booked, a marvelous filmization of the famous fairy story, "Sleeping Beauty", filmed in three reels. There will also be three great educational subjects, as follows: "Siberia the Vast Unknown." a full reel of views of the life in that country of snow and ice, showing many of the curious customs, as well as views of the spectacular snow country. "The Coal Mines of Hongay" is another feature of exceptional interest, showing the up-to-date and modern methods employed in the coal mines of French Indo-China, and every process of mining. "Idaho's Waterfalls" is one in a series of "Picturesque America" films that should prove exceptionally interesting, showing the marvelous water power that has been developed in Idaho, and the picturesque falls of its rivers and streams.

—Mr. W. S. White, advance representative of the Redpath Chautauqua, who spent the past week in Wilmington, left yesterday afternoon for Birmingham, Ala., where he will make preparations for a Chautauqua in that city.

Carter, president of the Christian Endeavor of Warsaw, was recognized by the leader.

Berry Season Waning.

Yesterday's issue of the Mt. Olive Tribune says: "The strawberry shipping season here is on the wane and, unless the crown crop matures well following the splendid rains this week and can be marketed at profitable prices, this week will practically wind up the deal. Up to this time about 16,000 crates have gone forward from Mt. Olive, including both express and carlot shipments. This, compared with former years, is small, but the splendid prices that have prevailed throughout the entire season have more than made up for the shortage, and our growers are well pleased with the season's business. The growers, hardly without exception, have made money. Many of them have picked upwards of 100 crates to the acre, for which they have received an average of about $3.00 per crate."

Juniors to Clarkton.

This week's issue of the Bladen Journal, Clarkton, says: "There will be a public meeting at the school auditorium next Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the interest of the Junior Order of American Mechanics, and a very beneficial and entertaining programme has been arranged consisting of music, short talks, etc. Those who will speak are Hon. O. L. Clark, Rev. J. E. L. Winecoff and Mr. G. H. Currie, of Clarkton, and Messrs. Woodus Kellum, C. C. Cashwell and F. A. Lord, of Wilmington. The public is invited. After the meeting charter members will be listed for the new lodge here."

GRADUATE NURSES ARE GIVEN THEIR DIPLOMAS

Maj. Joseph W. Little Delivers Commencement Address.

Tributes to Philanthropists, Who Have Helped Hospital, by Speakers. Exercises Followed by Reception and Dance.

Dressed in the dainty white gowns and caps of their profession, six young women composing the senior class of the Training School for Nurses of the James Walker Memorial Hospital were presented with their diplomas as evidence of their having completed the prescribed course of study and training, at the graduation exercises which were held last evening in the hall of the Germania Club, corner Front and Dock streets. The commencement exercises were followed by a most delightful reception and dance.

Maj. Joseph W. Little delivered the commencement address in which he emphasized the need of courage in performing the commonplace duties of life and pointed out the wide field of usefulness that the life of the professional nurse offers. He showed the need of high ideals in order to achieve permanent success and bid the nurses utilize every resource to make the most possible out of life.

In presenting to the graduates their hospital pins, Dr. G. G. Thomas, a member of the Board of Managers of the James Walker Memorial Hospital, spoke most beautifully of the generous gift of Dr. James Sprunt and his wife, now of sainted memory, in providing for an annex to the hospital for the treatment of women and children and declared that it would stand as a noble monument to their memory through the years, causing thousands to rise up and call them blessed.

Mr. W. H. Sprunt, who presided at the exercises, spoke of the splendid gift of $10,000 which the late Mr. Sam Bear, Jr., had set apart in his will to be used in the promotion of the work of the hospital. He recalled the tender solicitude that the deceased had shown during the many years he was identified with the management of the institution for its welfare. He closed with helpful words of advice to the graduates, bidding them God-speed in their noble work and calling.

Dr. H. A. Codington, superintendent of the hospital, presented the members of the graduating class with their diplomas. Those receiving diplomas were Miss Mattie Lee Cutchin, North Carolina; Miss Lucile Hix, South Carolina; Miss Clara Louise Livingston, Michigan; Miss Bessie Dixon Powell, North Carolina; Miss Effie Olia Brown, North Carolina; Miss Mary Agnes Sinclair, North Carolina.

Dr. Thomas announced that a friend of the hospital, who did not desire his name to be given, had provided a prize of $100 to be given that member of the senior class, who showed the best efficiency, most courtesy and the greatest consciousness in her work, and the speaker expressed great pleasure in having the privilege of giving this to Miss Mary Agnes Sinclair. A special prize of $50 was also offered for the member of the intermediate class, who made the highest mark in her work, and this was won by Miss Neva Sykes.

A large improvised platform had been erected on the west side of the hall and those seated here included the speaker of the evening, the members of the Board of Managers of the institution, the members of the graduating class, Rev. Wm. E. Cox, Miss Virginia McKay, superintendent of nurses, and Miss Bettie Cox, assistant superintendent. A score or more of graduate and undergraduate nurses in uniform occupied places in the auditorium while several hundred friends of the nurses had gathered for the exercises. The hall was beautifully and tastefully decorated for the occasion, potted plants and spring flowers being used in profusion.

The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Wm. E. Cox after which Maj. Joseph W. Little delivered the commencement address. Dr. G. G. Thomas then presented to the nurses their hospital pins after which the diplomas were conferred by Dr. H. A. Codington. The exercises were interspersed with enjoyable musical selections by Grainger's orchestra.

After the graduation exercises practically all those present remained for the reception and dance which continued until well on towards midnight. The opening dance was by the members of the graduating class. Music for the dances was furnished by Grainger's orchestra. Delicious refreshments were served during the evening. The dance was a most enjoyable and delightful affair.

The patronesses for the dance and reception were Mesdames Victor Grainger, Cuthbert Martin, W. H. Sprunt, William Parsley, Claiborne James and George P. Cotchett.

THEATRICAL

"The Target," the five-reel Red Feather feature photoplay which comes to the Royal today with Hobart Bosworth in the principal role, depicts a strong man's conflict with relentless fate and a vampire woman whom he fights and conquers. It is an absorbing and inspiring drama lavishly produced.

Mr. Bosworth, veteran actor of both the speaking stage and pioneer in the moving picture drama, makes a picturesque figure in "The Target." The play carries its chief character, Big Bill Brent (Hobart Bosworth), through the experiences of a career from boyhood to middle age.

One after another he tries the false substitutes for his mother's love. Each fails him in turn until at length he is forced to acknowledge that he has mistaken the substance for the shadow. His sworn friend, his wife his partner, sweetheart, the cellmate whom he rescues from a convict's fate —all fail him, and the one enduring thing in his life is the pure love of his mother which no misfortune, no vicissitude can change from its steady devotion to her first-born.

Today's Feature at the Royal.

Charlie Chaplin Tomorrow.

Tomorrow at the Grand—another "mob" will witness the return engagement of Charlie Chaplin in his masterpiece "Carmen" that great four-reel production which stood 'em outside all day last Saturday.

Owing to the great children's parade last Saturday the kiddies did not get an opportunity to see it, and the Grand management was besieged all Saturday night by parents who wanted their children to see this great production.

EDNA PURVIANCE

twenty it is well, for it's one of the cleanest Chaplin comedies ever produced, and the kiddies get to see it at the same price they formerly paid for the little one-reel Chaplins.

So tomorrow Charlie Chaplin's Burlesque on Carmen will be presented for the last time in Wilmington. After tomorrow it will not return again, for it is held at the same high figure for a return engagement as on the first appearance and the prohibitive charge for it would make it impossible to play it a third time, under ordinary circumstances.

So just a hint to those who did not see it last Saturday—ask your neighbor or your friend who did see it, and don't miss it this time!

"The Iron Claw" Today.

That the great serial "The Iron Claw" holds the interest of the public even more strongly now than it did in the beginning is evidenced by the constantly increasing attendance at the Bijou every Friday. With the eighth great episode today, "The Stroke of Twelve" the dramatic strength of the plot assumes its highest pitch and today's chapter is the most thrilling two reels of motion pictures you ever saw.

While romance, mystery and adventure keep their hold on the people, this serial, with all these elements will continue a sure-fire combination. When you add a beautiful girl, who is being persecuted, a charming young man, who loves her, and would save her, a sinister villain, who has tasted of life, and got indigestion, you have a tale that is as good as "The Iron Claw" —and not before.

Margery becomes engaged to the count in this chapter—and by the way several have expressed the belief that the count is the mysterious "Laughing Mask." It's a thriller from beginning to end.

Two great comedy screams today—Heinie and Louie in "Skylight Sleep," their very greatest scream, and Lonesome Luke in "Great While it Lasted," a typical Luke comedy, full of laughs all the way through.

"The Strange Case of Mary Page" which delighted more than three thousand Wilmingtonians last Friday with the opening chapter will play to even a greater number today. For everyone who left the Grand last Friday went away vowing that they had just witnessed the best serial beginning in their entire recollections.

The finished and strong acting of those two foremost screen favorites, Henry Walthall and Edna Mayo, make of "The Strange Case of Mary Page" a photoplay equal to the greatest high-priced feature that has ever been presented. When Henry Walthall is announced in a feature, no matter what the price, capacity crowds are the result. The same is true of Miss Edna Mayo, the most beautiful woman on the screen, with all of those lavish Lady Duff Gordon gowns, which in themselves prove a strong attraction to the ladies.

The second episode of "The Strange Case of Mary Page" grows in dramatic intensity, starting where last week's episode left off, with the mysterious tragedy which costs a man his life. Who killed him? That's the task that confronts Philip Langdon, her lover—to find the murderer. And he forthwith proceeds to fight the greatest battle in history in behalf of the woman he loves. The strange hand points at Mary Page—but did she do it?

Among the other big ones today is one of the greatest of all Lonesome Luke comedy screams—"Luke's Double"

EAST LUMBERTON GIRL SHOT WITH AN "UNLOADED" PISTOL.

Marjie Meadows Expected to Die as Result of Bullet in Her Head.

Lumberton, N. C., May 18.—A deplorable accident occurred in East Lumberton this afternoon about 5 o'clock, when Marjie Meadows, 14 years old, was shot, a pistol ball entering her head just above the left eye. She was rushed to the hospital where it is thought the wound will prove fotal.

No blame attaches to anyone. A party of young folks were enjoying making kodak pictures, the subject being western scenes in which pistols were used, none of which were supposed to be loaded. The weapon was fired by Frank Braytn, it is said.

Modern Business Has Its Romances and the Big Brother At Washington Is the Hero of the Latest One - Keeping the Blush In Our Most Precious Product - Another War Sequel.

By Waldon Fawcett.

NOT the Stars and Stripes, but other national colors that we see even oftener have lately been "saved" by Uncle Sam. But the authorities at Washington had to "corner" a market to do it, just as "bulls" have tried now and then to corner the wheat market.

Have you complained, these past few months, that the two-cent stamps on your letters seemed to be a pale sickly pink instead of the virile crimson to which you have been accustomed? Like as not you have grumbled in this wise, but if you only knew it you should have been thanking your lucky stars that these self-same postage stamps had any color left in their faces. It is a wonder, in these troublous times that the famous men who are immortalized on our postage stamps have any complexions whatever. And what is more, it is only by a narrow squeak that the greenbacks which we work so hard to collect are not blackbacks, nowadays.

There you have it—the nation was hit in a most unexpected quarter by the shortage of dyestuffs that ensued from the day that the war put a crimp in German commerce. It speedily dawned upon the American public that if that sort of thing went on they would miss many a dash of color in their wearing apparel and the man on the street remarked it when the most staid and conservative newspapers began to turn "yellow." But to not one person in a thousand did it occur that this cutting off of the colors might strike every Yankee pocketbook to the extent of bleaching out our paper money and leaving only weak and watery tints for our erstwhile vivid postage and revenue stamps.

Concerning the color market.

When the guns began to boom a year ago last August most people had something else to think of than rosy tints and delicate shades of blue and green to match nature's own, but there was one man in the United States who realized instantly that his duty lay "right there." This individual was then as now the head of the U. S. Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

Director Joseph E. Ralph, with foresight worthy such a cause and with ample funds to draw upon, hied himself to New York and then and there "cornered the market" for certain colors. He spent more than $50,000 within a few days but as events turned out he not only saved the day for Uncle Sam but he saved the government around $100,000 in cold cash over the prices the Federal printery would have been called upon to pay a few weeks later.

The supply of colors obtained by this prompt raid upon the market was, to be sure, sufficient to keep the big stamp and currency factory running for only six months, but it gave the officials time to turn around, as it were. Long before the six months had elapsed they had tried every expedient to obtain coloring matter. They had to put up with what they could get and what they could get was not always what they would have preferred but for all the difficulties, the standard shades of postage stamps and currency have been pretty well maintained from that day to this.

Hard and fast rules as to color.

"But why," I fancy I hear some reader protest, "all this fuss about the rainbow colors; why not print the stamps in black?" Ah, there's the rub. As matters stand, Uncle Sam has simply got to find certain dress for stamps of certain denominations. It all comes about because of the conventions of the Universal Postal Union—the international alliance which enables the various countries of the world to exchange mail and recognize each other's stickers as valid fees for carriage. Under the agreements governing the interchange of mail the one-cent (or equivalent denomination) stamps of all countries must be green in color; the two-cent stamps all around the world must be red; and blue is the universal fashion for five-cent stamps. To keep up with the postal procession, then, Uncle Sam simply must subscribe to this color scheme.

The "bases" of all of these colors are materials made only in Germany. Ever since the outbreak of the war Uncle Sam's chemists have been hard at work endeavoring to find satisfactory substitutes of domestic origin, but they have not yet been as successful as one might wish and so Uncle Sam's task of saving the colors resolved itself in to a job of getting the coveted materials out of Germany, blockade or no blockade. Incidentally, be it confessed, that whereas kid-glove diplomacy has done much, business diplomacy has done even more.

When the dye cornered by Director Ralph was gone other small consignments were picked up here and there—shipments that had dribbled through from Germany to private dealers. Gradually, however, as the blockade tightened the outlook for future supply became darker and darker. Then it was that the Treasury Department called for aid from the State Department, the "diplomatic annex."

For nearly a year the State Department worked to get the colors through the blockade. First Germany had to be persuaded to let the colors depart and then the Allies had to be induced to permit the shipments to proceed without interference. Finally, however, everything was arranged and a shipment of 20,000 pounds went through. Uncle Sam's full order was for 145,000 pounds or more than seven shipments of this size, the entire order being restricted to the three colors that are needed for stamps issued in accordance with the international agreement.

Vegetable dyes no help.

But why not use vegetable dyes? has ventured more than one citizen who remembers that dyes from vegetable products were used extensively until the cheaper coal-tar dyes virtually drove them from the market. Unfortunately vegetable dyes are not suitable for use in the manufacture of printing ink. Especially does Uncle Sam's stamp and money factory need in its business "fast colors." When you bear in mind that Uncle Sam makes a practice nowadays of laundering his dirty money and that postage stamps are treated to repeated soakings sometimes you will appreciate that the Government requires colors that are not only fast as to light but that are not affected by water, oil or even varnish.

Uncle Sam, Ink Maker.

It will, of course, be understood that Uncle Sam's quest is for dry colors rather than for ink, because Uncle Sam makes all his own printing inks at the money and stamp manufactory. Only the very largest printing establishments can afford to install ink-making machinery but the ink required for "plate printing"—the process whereby our currency is impressed—is of a special character and requires great care in the mixing.

That Uncle Sam is a mighty busy little ink mixer will be appreciated when it is explained that he turns out about two million pounds of ink per year—more than six thousand pounds every working day. Fourteen buckets of red ink (weighing 80 pounds to the bucket) are sent every day from the ink factory to the press room, where our postage stamps are reeled off. Fifty buckets of green ink are portioned out to the pressmen who work this color and an equal number of buckets full of black ink are spread every day upon paper that becomes suddenly invested with high value in consequence. Generally speaking, Uncle Sam puts ten pounds of ink on every one thousand sheets of stamps or currency.

"The Assembly will be opened every day with a period of Bible study. Dr. W. J. McGlothlin, professor of Church History in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, will be in charge. His theme will be 'The Life and Teachings of Paul.' All Sunday school workers and pastors need this course in their work the balance of this year.

At the same hour Miss Annie L. Williams, Birmingham, Ala., will conduct a class for Primary workers. "W. M. U. Convention—Every day, except the one for a joint session with the pastors, the W. M. U. workers will carry out a programme prepared by a committee appointed at the recent session of the State Convention. Mrs. H. T. Pope, Lumberton, N. C. On Saturday evening there will be a Chautauqua concert, Miss Cannie Chasten, director. The evenings are given over to popular addresses with the hope that the Assembly may prove to be a happy combination of profit and pleasure.

"Music—Dr. Hubert McN. Poteat, Wake Forest, will be in charge. This guarantees a rich music. He will have associated with him Miss Katherine Johnson, Meredith College, as soloist; Mrs. W. B. WANT TO DEVELOP NEW ROAD

North Carolina Trust Company Seeks Aid of County Commissioners. Referred to Road Committee.

A special meeting of the Board of County Commissioners was held yesterday afternoon for the purpose of considering the request of the North Carolina Trust Company, of Greensboro, represented by their attorney, A. M. Scales, Esq., for a new road from Scott's Hill highway to a point on the Wrightsville turnpike near Delgado, extending across a tract of about 170 acres, owned by the Greensboro concern, which is bounded by the two roads and the tract of the Delgado Cotton Mills on the south. The proposition was referred to the permanent road committee of the Commissioners for investigation and report.

The length of the proposed road would be a little less than a mile. It is proposed by the development company to construct it either of concrete or bitulithic and of a standard width and the county is asked in addition to having the road graded to pay one-third of the expense of the laying of the concrete. The highway would be the center of the development of the suburb which the Greensboro company has in view.

The North Carolina Trust Company, which has supervision of several high class developments at Greensboro and other sections of the State, purchased the tract of land near Wilmington more than two years ago with the intention of immediately developing but the depression incident to the breaking out of hostilities in Europe caused a delay. The local representatives of the Greensboro concern are James & James.

The meeting of the Commissioners yesterday was presided over by Chairman W. A. McGirt and was attended by Commissioners Yopp and Kerr.

Jurors for the criminal term of Superior Court, which convenes on June 26th, were drawn as follows: Messrs. G. L. Patterson, L. E. Bishop, Gerritt Walker, Jas. A. Lockfaw, L. A. Blue, O. H. Kennedy, Fred W. Mohr, George Crandall, T. M. Savage, V. M. Gilbert, W. G. Collins, B. W. Bradford, R. C. Applewhite, Walter D. Colwell, Marshall Shrier, W. G. Fergus, J. F. Roache, John Lewis Williams, R. T. Gaston, Zach E. Murrell, A. H. Ketchum, W. F. Furpless, Thos. D. Meares, Sr., J. S. Pittman, Otto W. Genaust, A. B. Mintz, E. L. Gray, Henry L. Hewett, W. G. Perkins, B. E. Hollis, J. P. Futch, J. E. Hatch, E. J. Irving, W. C. Hardison and W. L. Vann.

Mr. J. P. Herring, county farm demonstrator, submitted a report showing that he had during April planted the 1,000 pecan trees, purchased recently by the Board of Commissioners, along the highways and at the school buildings in the county. The greater number of trees were planted on the Gordon and Seagate roads. Mr. Herring stated that he had been informed that some of the trees planted on the roads last year had been cut for use as switches. He urged that the people of the county co-operate in taking care of the trees.

"We find a number of fine crimson clover plats through the county," says Mr. Herring, "and our farmers are seeing that we can grow clover here."

Low Price Loses out Against Low Cost

PRICE may sell some things to farmers, but price alone is a poor argument compared with the records for low cost of operation made by Mogul kerosene engines.

Because they run on kerosene, Mogul engines produce farm power at the lowest possible cost.

You know what gasoline costs. You know, too, what kerosene costs. Take the difference—multiply it by the number of gallons of fuel an engine will consume in five years, figuring one pint of fuel per horse power per hour.

COTTON ACTIVE AND STRONG

Less Favorable Weather Condition Report—General List Gains 13 to 18 Points.

New York, May 18.—The cotton market was active and strong today on a less favorable weather condition report and increasing confidence in peace rumors. October contracts touched 13.30 and December 13.44 under realizing and fresh selling for a reaction which prices eased offsome 6 or 7 points during the middle of the day, October selling down to 13.23 and December to 13.37. Offerings were well absorbed at the decline, however, and prices firmed up during the middle of the afternoon on reports of a severe storm entering Texas from the gulf and a renewal of peace rumors. October sold up to 13.31 and December to 13.34, or back to within 8 or 9 points of last week's high record, while old crop deliveries made new high ground for the movement.

Weather and crop news was less emphasized by buyers around the ring than the peace talk, and reports of a more active spot demand.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

Price Rises One Dollar a Bale—Unfavorable Weather.

New Orleans, May 18.—Cotton rose $1 a bale on this market today on buying stimulated by unfavorable weather and encouraging reports from Liverpool. The opening was at the advance and the gain was well maintained throughout the session, although bearish comment was that the market was becoming over-bought. The highest prices were realized late in the session following the spot market at a rise of 13 points to 12.88 for middling. At the best, the trading months were 18 to 21 points up and the close was very steady at a net gain of 18 to 20 points.

A feature of the day was the covering of July shorts and the report that prominent spot interests were taking the long end of that month. Outside buying was stimulated by low temperatures over the belt and the claim that cold rains were against the germination of seed and the growth of young plants. At no time did any real selling power develop.

Closing: July 13.14; October 13.13; December 13.24; January 13.32; March 13.45.

Spot cotton steady, 13 points up; sales on the spot 1,645 bales; to arrive 510 bales; middling 12.88.

SHARP BREAKS IN WHEAT

Market Affected by Surmises that Definite Movements for Peace Have Begun.

Chicago, May 18.—Surmises that definite movements for peace had been begun were accompanied in the wheat market today by sharp breaks in quotations. RAILS LEAD STOCK MARKET

Fully 160,000 Reading Shares Changed Hands—Market Seemed Uncertain at Times, But Made Gains.

New York, May 18.—High grade railway shares led today's broad and active market which was at times uncertain, despite a preponderance of substantial gains at the close. Reading common and second preferred, made new high records on the extreme gains of 7 and 3 3-4 points, respectively, to par and 51 1-2, while the first preferred advanced more moderately.

Fully 160,000 Reading shares changed hands, about one-fifth of the day's total operations. Wall Street believes developments of importanec are impending and that a distribution of the company's valuable assets must follow in logical sequence, but no official statement was made.

Canadian Pacific advanced more than three points with 1 to 2 point gains for Lehigh Valley and other coalers, while New York Central, New Haven, St. Paul and the Southern division also displayed strength. War shares and other industrials were subject to further profit taking and short selling on recurrent peace rumors. General Electric, however, made a substantial addition to yesterday's rise and Harvester Corporation was in renewed demand. So-called whiskey stocks were active and strong.

United States Steel during the forenoon advanced a point to 85, but soon lost most of its gain, only to come forward again in the feverish activity of the close. Total sales 760,000 shares.

Foreign remittances hardened, with the exception of francs. Bonds were firm, total sales, par value, $4,775,000. United States bonds unchanged on call.

$25,000 DAMAGES SOUGHT

For Death of Little Boy Killed by Auto at Newbern.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., May 18.—A year ago this afternoon, Earl King Taylor, the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Taylor, whose home is on the Northeast corner of East Front and Pollock street, was run down and killed by an automobile driven by James Stewart, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stewart who was returning from Glenbournie park with a party of delegates to the Council of the Diocese of East Carolina which was in session here at that time.

Tomorrow, in Craven Superior court, a suit for damages in the sum of $25,000 for the death of this little lad will be started and this is proving of much interest in Newbern and surrounding section and the outcome will be awaited with considerable interest.

The plaintiff contends in his complaint that the driver of the car which knocked the child down, at which time he received injuries from which his death is said to have been caused, was not as old as the law says drivers of automobiles should be. There are a number of other points to be brought out and the case will doubtless prove of considerable interest.

Kinston, N. C., May 18.—Bryant Sanderson, white, charged with the murder of Amos Becton, a wealthy farmer, last Saturday night, was remanded to jail after a hearing here today.

CONVENTION OF ELKS GOES TO RALEIGH NEXT

Joseph F. Ferrall, of Capital City, Elected President.

Newbern Winner of Cup for Largest Number of Elks in Parade—Raleigh for the Most Miles Traveled.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Washington, N. C., May 18.—Having elected officers for the ensuing year and selected Raleigh as the convention city for next year, the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of North Carolina concluded their two days annual session here tonight with a farewell reception at the Elks' home, following a theatre party. The newly elected officers are:

President, Joseph F. Ferrall, Raleigh; first vice president, D. D. Daughtridge, of Rocky Mount; second vice president, Thomas J. Murphy, Greensboro; secretary and treasurer, T. B. Kehoe, Newbern.

Newbern won the cup for having the largest number of Elks in the parade from any of the visiting lodges, while Raleigh was awarded the prize for traveling the largest number of miles. The delegation from the Capital City made a strong motion to have the State convention meet in Raleigh in 1917 and they had but little opposition, so it was decided to meet in Raleigh next year.

Today's events began with an excursion down Pamlico river on the steamer Annie Vansciver, which was very kindly furnished the Elks by the Elizabeth City lodge, leaving this city at 9:30 o'clock. A large number of the visiting Elks and several bands to furnish the music, with clear, bracing weather, enjoyed a delightful trip down the historic Pamlico returning to this city at 4 o'clock, in time to witness a ball game at the local diamond. A business session was held on the steamer from 11 a. m. to 2:30 p. m., during which the president's and secretaries' reports of the past year were made to the convention and other routine business transacted. The presentation of the parade trophies and the Newbern lodge trophies were made on the steamer, after the business session.

Washington and its hospitable citizens have enjoyed having the State convention of B. P. O. E. as its guests for the past two days, and everything possible to make their visit pleasant and enjoyable was done by the local lodge members, assisted by the citizens. All of the visitors were made to feel at home and thoroughly enjoyed their visit. It was one of the most harmonious State convention's that the Elks have ever had and will be long remembered by all who attended.

KENANSVILLE TO HAVE MODERN HOTEL OF TWENTY ROOMS

New Buildings for Warsaw—Railroad Bond Election in Duplin.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Warsaw, N. C., May 18.—Material is being placed on the lot on Main street, recently purchased by Mrs. Alice Brown, for the construction of a handsome up-to-date store building to be used as a drug store by the Brown Drug Company, the members of which are Mrs. Alice Loftin Brown and Mr. Dulan Brown.

With the removal of the frame building, known as the Highsmith restaurant, there remains in the business section on Main street only two wooden business houses, and it is only a matter of time before they will be replaced with brick structures.

A hotel of 20 rooms is nearing completion in Kenansville. It is quite handsome in appearance, and contains waterworks and other modern conveniences. Mr. James Bowden is the proprietor, and Miss Ella Williams is the manager.

The question of the restoration of Norfolk and Wilmington trains Nos. 90 and 91 to daily service at least as far as Warsaw, is being agitated again, and it is hoped that in a very short while they will in fact be operated to and from this point, if not to Wilmington, as was reported a short time ago they would be.

Smith, Limestone and Cypress Creek townships have been authorized to hold an election for the purpose of voting bonds to build the proposed railroad from Kinston to Beulaville and Chinquepin and thence to the coast.

"PREPAREDNESS PARADE."

To Be Pulled Off in Newbern as Part of July Fourth Celebration.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Newbern, N. C., May 18.—Newbern is preparing to celebrate July 4, in a most appropriate manner and indications now are that among the other events of the day will be a "Preparedness Parade" in which the anti-advocates of peace will turn out and joint in a grand pageant in which the watch word will be "forewarned is forearmed."

Plans for this event are at present in an embryo state but will doubtless be perfected within the next few weeks, or at least in time for the parade to be held.

At night there will be an old fiddler's contest and a fireworks exhibition out at Ghent Park and hundreds of visitors are expected to come to the city for that day.

For Tired Women With Aching Heads

"They help me so much and I find relief as soon as I begin taking your Foley Kidney Pills." Mrs. Frank P. Wood, Morrill, Maine, R. F. D. No. 2.

Sometimes it seems as if you can't stand the pain across your back. It is just making your life miserable and robbing you of all energy and strength. When you are constantly tired, head always aching, nerves "on edge," kidney action painful and burning, then is the time to start in at once on Foley Kidney Pills.

They strengthen the weak, ailing kidneys, improve their action, enable them to throw off the poisons that cause your trouble. Your nerves grow peaceful, sleep becomes sounder, nervous headaches disappear. As Mrs. Wood says: "I find relief as soon as I begin to take your Foley Kidney Pills." Be sure you get the genuine Foley Kidney Pills, for they are purely medicinal and contain no harmful drugs.

MOTHER OF WHISTLER BORN IN FAYETTEVILLE

Her Father Was a Wilmington Physician, However.

Mr. Donald F. Ray, of the Upper Cape Fear City, Clears Up Record of Ancestry of the Famous Painter.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., May 18.—The statement made in The Morning Star recently that the mother of James Abbott McNeill Whistler, perhaps the greatest painter of modern times, was a North Carolina woman and a native of Fayetteville, has elicited a good deal of interest here. The Fayetteville Observer having asked for information on the point, Mr. Donald F. Ray, of this city, responds interestingly.

Whistler's mother, he says, was born in Fayetteville but was the daughter of a Wilmington physician. "The charming old lady that everyone knows as 'Whistler's Mother' was Anne Mathilda McNeill," says Mr. Ray. "She was the daughter of Dr. Charles Donald McNeill, of Wilmington, and was married to Major George Washington Whistler, a classmate of her brothers at West Point." It will be recalled that Whistler himself attended the Military Academy at West Point from 1855 to 1857. "Her ancestor, Donald McNeill, came from the Island of Skye," Mr. Ray continues, "and settled on the Cape Fear in 1746. This much concerning her is quite authentic and appears in that delightful volume on Whistler written by his dear friends, the Pennells.

"The exquisite painting of her to which The Star refers was called by the artist, 'The Mother, Arrangement in Grey and Black.' It now hangs in the Musee du Luxembourg. I have read that in the fall of 1914 when the barbaric German hordes were drawing near to Paris, one of the first treasures to be removed to a place of safety was this canvas.

"She was a strict Puritan and was called 'one of the saints upon this earth.' She lived with her son during his residence in Venice, Paris and London and was greatly beloved by his artist friends. Whistler was baptized 'James Abbott' but while a cadet at West Point he took his mother's name and ever afterward called himself 'James McNeill' and signed his name 'J. M. N. Whistler.' During all of his life abroad, after he ceased to be an American, he still proudly called himself a Southerner. It is interesting to think that the landing place of the McNeills was our Campbelltown (the old part of Fayetteville) and that the mother of that very distinguished gentleman and artist was born in Fayetteville."

Mrs. Whistler was the great-aunt of Mr. H. McD. Robinson, of this city.

SUPREME COURT OPINIONS.

Batch of Decisions Filed in Cases from Western Part of State.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., May 18.—The Supreme Court sustains the non-suit in the case of J. A. Fore, receiver, vs. Feimster and others, from Mecklenburg county, in which the commissioners of Iredell county are defendants in an action to hold them personally liable for $622 balance due for material for the Iredell county home on the ground that they failed to take proper bond from the contractors for the protection of the material men.

In M. P. Templeton vs. Statesville Air Line Railway, from Iredell county, a verdict for $1,000 damages against the railroad company for injury, is upheld and in M. L. Morris vs. Carolina & Clinchfield railroad a non-suit is sustained in which it is held that there is no evidence of negligence on the part of the railroad company when a hammer with which a spike was being driven into a tie flied off the helve and the employe using it had his back sprained. The court further holds that there is no evidence of negligence on the part of the railroad company in the facts that the foreman had told the employe to hurry up and finish because a train was coming and had told the employe to stand on a pile of loose dirt while driving the spike.

The full list of opinions delivered this weekly delivery day follows:

J. A. Fore, receiver, vs. Feimster, Mecklenburg, affirmed; Hilliard vs. Abernathy, Burke, no error; Coulter vs. Wilson, Burke, affirmed; Templeton vs. Statesville Air Line, Iredell, no error; Nance vs. Atkins, Montgomery, reversed; Brown vs. Brown, Yadkin, new trial; Morris vs. C. C. & O. Railroad Co., McDowell, affirmed; Land Co., vs. Floyd, Henderson, new trial; Baldwin vs. Smitherman, motion to reinstate allowed.

TESTING CAPACITY OF NAVY YARD SHELL SHOP AT NORFOLK

Rush Orders Have Been Received for Twenty Thousand Shells.

Norfolk, Va., May 18.—As a preparedness test and in order to demonstrate the facilities and capacity of the navy yard shell shop rush orders have been received for 10,000 6-inch and 10,000 5-inch naval shells. Castings are being transferred as rapidly as possible to the shops, where they are being machined, finished and sent to St. Julien's magazine for loading. Capacity forces are being operated in order to establish a record time for the production of the finished shells. Other and larger orders are expected to follow.

GRAND LODGE OF ODD FELLOWS VISITS THE CHILDREN'S HOME.

Proceed From Wilson to Goldsboro in Automobiles.

Wilson, N. C., May 18.—In a procession of 65 automobiles, the Grand Lodge of the North Carolina Independent Order of Odd Fellows went from here to Goldsboro, following adjournment of the annual State convention here, to visit the orphan home located there. They were entertained in Goldsboro by Neuse Lodge, No. 6.

After inspecting the institution, the members of the party were entertained by the children of the Home.

Norfolk, Va., May 18.—The superdreadnoughts Utah and Florida early today joined the U. S. S. Delaware, Southern drill grounds, for extensive maneuvers and target practice. The big guns of the ships are to be tested at long ranges. All three are expected in Hampton Roads for week-end and shore leave to officers and men.

Gun To Fire 5,000 Bullets Per Minute

INVENTED BY CHAUTAUQUA LECTURER MONTRAVILLE WOOD, WHO WORKS AS HE TRAVELS ON CIRCUIT.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Mount, N. C., May 18.—"A gyroscope gun that will fire 5,000 bullets per minute with an accuracy that you could write your name," was the way Montraville Wood, scientist, inventor and Chautauqua lecturer, explained to a newspaper visitor what he was doing in an improvised workshop in a room in a local hotel. Mr. Wood, who is connected with the Edison organization and has been for the past number of years, is the inventor of many well known patents in which we come in daily contact and use.

He, like many Americans, appreciates the need of this Nation's greater preparedness and he was found hard at work today on a gun which it is his purpose to complete within thirty days and which will be presented to the naval invention board, formed some months ago by Secretary Daniels.

Mr. Wood, while enjoying his work in science demonstration with the Redpath Chautauqua, lets one know that he had rather be back in Chicago at his laboratory—and incidentally that he is going back and leave the circuit one week from today. The scientist explains that, while he carries trunks of tools and much with which he is experimenting, there is no place on the road for his kind of work and that with the month's datings near complete he is glad of the opportunity to go home and get back at his work bench and desk delving into the realm of the unrevealed.

Regarding the gyro gun, Mr. Wood talked interestingly. He claims that it will be electrically controlled from a point even distantly removed from the gun itself, that it will maintain a speed of firing never before contemplated, while the greatest point will be in the matter of the ranging and control of the aim, and this will be so perfect that the average layman could write his name. Following the experiments in his laboratory, he declares that he will invite an audience and later will present it in its perfected form to the naval board for final adoption for the service of his nation.

MR. GODWIN AT COUNCILS.

Addressed Large Crowd Last Night. Making Canvass of Bladen.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Councils, N. C., May 18.—The largest crowd that has gathered at this place to hear a political speech since the memorable campaign, heard Congressman H. L. Godwin in the Pythian Hall tonight. Just before the address the Democratic club organized in the interest of the party met and held an enthusiastic meeting.

After the adjournment of the club, Dr. A. B. Holmes, chairman of the township executive committee, called the meeting to order and introduced E. F. McCulleck, Jr., who in a few appropriate remarks introduced Mr. Godwin. The reception and attention given Mr. Godwin in his speech of an hour and a half, in which he reviewed his record and the record of the Democratic party since they have come into power, was all that his most ardent supporters could wish. Judging from the sentiments shown at the meeting and the many expressions in regard to the congressional race, it was clearly apparent that Mr. Godwin would carry this township by a very large majority.

Geo. H. Bellamy was present and made a short speech. Mr. Godwin is spending a few days on a tour of Bladen county and will wind up the campaign at White Oak Saturday, when he will make an address. He expressed himself as greatly pleased with the outlook in this county, and stated that he would get a large majority over all the candidates. C. B. H.

DEADLOCK IN ELECTION OF METHODIST BISHOPS BROKEN.

Dr. Herbert Welch First to be Chosen at Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 18.—The deadlock over the election of bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church was broken tonight on the eighth ballot when Dr. Herbert Welch, president of Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, Ohio, received 554 votes, 14 more than the required two-thirds majority.

Dr. Welch has been president of Ohio Wesleyan University since 1905. He succeeded Bishop James W. Bashford, who was elected to the Methodist Episcopacy in 1904. He is 54 years old.

As soon as the vote was announced balloting was resumed for the election of six bishops yet to be chosen.

NEXT CONVENTION AT WILSON

Selected By North Carolina Episcopal Diocese at Henderson.

Henderson, N. C., May 18.—With the selection this morning this morning of Wilson as the 1917 convention city, the convention of the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina prepared to bring its 100th annual session to a close this afternoon.

A proposal for the establishment of a colored missionary Diocese in North Carolina, to be presented to the General Convention at St. Louis in October, was under consideration at the morning session. A committee reported the resolution favorably.

TWO MOTHERS TELL

How Their Sickly Children Were Made Strong and Well.

"For six years our little girl suffered from a bronchial trouble, she had no appetite, could not sleep and was so nervous we had to keep her out of school. The doctors said nothing but a change of climate would help her. We were discouraged, when one day a friend asked us to try Vinol, and after taking six bottles she does not look like the same child. She has a fine appetite, is lively, healthy and well, and Vinol did it all." Mrs. F. E. Hufford, Iola, Kas.

Another child made strong:—

"The measles left my little girl thin and delicate, and the doctor's medicine did not seem to build her up. I read about Vinol and got a bottle, and her improvement was rapid, her strength returned and she is now as well as ever." Mrs. E. Linot, Pittsburg, Pa.

We ask every Wilmington mother of a frail, sickly, ailing child to try Vinol on our guarantee to return their money if it does not restore her child's normal health.

nue department. Ordinary revenue, placed at $272,000,000 for the fiscal year 1916 in the estimate of last December, will approximate $303,000,000, an increase of $31,000,000. Next year's ordinary revenue receipts were placed in the previous estimate at about 265,000,000; in the revised estimate at about the same figure as this year's. These revenues cover mainly the tax on distilled liquors, cigars, cigarettes and tobacco.

Revenue from the income tax will go above $100,000,000 this year, Secretary McAdoo estimates, and certainly above $105,000,000 next year. The previous estimate had placed this revenue at $85,000,000 and $90,000,000, respectively. The increase of nearly $50,000,000 in these two items of revenue alone this year is attributed to general prosperity to strict enforcement of the internal revenue laws and the elimination of long standing frauds in the payment of taxes on tobacco, whiskey and oleomargarine, by which the government lost tens of millions of dollars.
